All Power to be Vested in Davis or Lee.

Is Lee Ready to Consider Terms?

Washington, Thursday, March 9.

The Richmond Enquirer of the 7th has a reply to a correspondent, who inquires:

"What mean these rumors of Senatorial Committees approaching the President to submit terms of submission? Is that report true? Are any Senators or Representatives whipped? Have they approached the President, to press upon him any such base propositions? Who were the Senators? What were the propositions? Is there any plan on foot to force the President to compromise with subjugation or resign? Is there any one else ready to volunteer resignation in case he is forced to vacate his place, and if he does, who is proposed to fill that place? Is any attempt made by rumors to create the impression that Gen Lee is ready to consider terms for laying down arms under the pretext of preventing the sufferings and sacrifices of a forced surrender? Who are busy in these plans of surrendering to subjugation? Speak out; the crisis demands boldness and decision, and determined resistance to internal as well as external enemies.

The worst enemies who now depress us are the whipped seceders. This hour of agony is no time for factious opposition or for faltering with peace propositions, which can lead to nothing but despair, relaxation and ruin. Terms of reconstruction now coming from Congress are nothing else but subjugation. Let us know the worst, that the summary remedy may be applied."

The Enquirer, in response to its correspondent, says it cannot answer all questions asked, for want of information, and then goes on in the following remarkable and significant language, showing unmistakably that the rebellion is in its death throes:

"That there is a party of whipped seceders in and about Richmond, cannot be denied. They are cowed and cowardly, miserable wretches, who brought the war upon the country, and who would now surrender to the enemy. We have no doubt but that there was a plan on foot to force Mr. Davis to resign, and that Mr. Stephens had consented to resign, so that Mr. Hunter, as President of the Senate, would become President. The plan, we hope and believe, has miscarried. At any rate, the conspirators may understand that if they should succeed, they will have placed a barren sceptre in their grasp, thence to be wrenched by an unlineal hand, no son of theirs succeeding.

Robert C. Lee, by and with the consent of the army and the people will grasp the sceptre they may wrench from the hands of Mr. Davis, and wield it for the safety and security of his country's liberty and independence. No cabal of whipped seceders shall capitulate this country into slavery and crouch at the footstool of Mr. Lincoln.

The Congress has utterly failed. It is incompetent and is doing much injury. It has neither capacity nor courage, and is wanting in firmness and resolution. It is unfit for revolution. The very men who were the foremost to secede are the first to surrender. a single head and a single arm is now needed, and if Congress would consult its patriotism it would intrust all power with the President and Gen. Lee and go home. The Virginia State banks can furnish one or two millions in gold, and this will secure the supplies now needed. Let the Legislature promptly act, and turn the gold over to Gen. Lee. The Congress is defunct. The country no longer looks to it for any aid in the struggle. The negroes have been withheld until it is now nearly too late. The currency is beyond their power to help. Those who talk now of compromise mean submission to subjugation.

INDIGNANT PROTEST.

The Sentinel, (Jeff. Davis' official organ,) in an editorial, says:

"This new levy of the Yankees will not avail to overwhelm us. We will surely win the fight, if we do our duty. None are more confident of this than those who have had the opportunity of observing things at the North None are more enthusiastic, none more buoyant with courage and hope—and let no man suppose that such is not the spirit of our people. Let no one imagine that the few poltroons with beards on, who are whipped without even having been in a fight, are a sample of our population. It is a shame indeed that these miserable tremblers are allowed to vex the patience and tire the ear with the exhibitions of their disgraceful cowardice. But we protest against judging others by many. We protest against the judging of Richmond by these whipped croakers, titled or untitled. We wish our women would take their broomsticks and drive them into the river. We tell our people that the people are as unconquered and resolved as they, and will stand up to them and sustain them. Let them take care of the Yankees. Those who are to join them in the trenches will take good care of the whipped men at home. We do not intend to be sold out or betrayed by them. Let them be sure that such is the temper of the public mind that to attempt this would be as much as the man's life would be worth. If we cannot find law in the books for such cases, we will be a law unto ourselves. An ancient people had no law against parricide. We, too, may not have provided for some crimes against our safety, supposing them impossible. But the people will not consent to be destroyed by them nevertheless. We say to our readers, and we say it to stimulate no false hopes and to excite to no useless sacrifices, we say to them in all honesty and sincerity, our success in this contest, God willing, is sure if we do our duty. The victory is ours unless we voluntarily forfeit it. The game is in our hands unless we choose to throw it way. It all depends on ourselves. There is nothing in the situation to defeat us. We say this on the highest military authority. If Heaven in its wrath were to curse us with a meanness of soul that would lead us to renounce the price for which we have toiled so long; renounce the liberties for which the noble army of martyrs have died, and fling away the glorious heritage which our fathers gave us; that indeed would be misery, for it would be disgrace, infamy, hopeless ruin, the very blackness of eternal darkness on our country and our names. Proud we are now to claim Jackson as our compatriot. The very Turk would kiss us, if shameless, we did it. We are not yet reduced to the necessity of taking courage from despair. The enemy have, indeed, shut us up to that necessity, if it should ever come. But, thank Heaven, it has not come,

We have bright, natural, certain hopes; hopes big with victory, and radiant with sunlight and glory, if we will bear hardness as a good soldier a little longer. By all that we love, and that are dead; by the fame that attracts, and the shame that urges us, stand up like men in this time of trial—the hour of darkness that precedes the day.

SHERIDAN'S RECENT VICTORY.

Wheeling, Va., Thursday, March 9.

Official information from Cumberland, Md., of the 8th inst., states that Col. Thompson, of the First New-Hampshire Cavalry, of Gen. Sheridan's command, has just arrived at Winchester with forty officers and 1,300 enlisted men as prisoners, and eight pieces of artillery captured and destroyed.

TWO RAILROAD DISASTERS.

Accident on the Hudson River Railroad—Train Run into an Open Drawbridge—Two Lives Lost.

Poughkeepsie, Thursday, March 9.

A freight train, bound north on the Hudson River Railroad, about 9 o'clock last evening, ran into the Peekskill drawbridge, smashing several cars and killing the engineer and fireman. At the time of the accident a sloop was passing through the draw, and the necessary signals were visible. The engineer's name was John Heffernan, that of the fireman was Wm. Lent. The body of the latter has not been found. The body of the engineer was found on the top of the boiler, four feet under water.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

On Wednesday evening, at Peekskill, on the Hudson River Railroad, an accident happened by which, unfortunately, two men lost their lives. Mr. M. Brown, a passenger on the 4:15 P. M. train from Albany to New-York, has given us the following particulars relating to it:

About 8 o'clock the drawbridge at Peekskill was opened for the purpose of letting a small vessel get through. The Albany evening express had just passed when the draw was opened for the sloop. At this junctnre, a special baggage train came along. The signal-man says he showed the usual danger signal, which the engineer on the train did not see, or unheeded.

The train was signaled to "break off" when it was about two hundred feet from the draw. The train came rushing on, when the locomotive and tender were precipitated into the water, the tender being disconnected from the locomotive, and thrown on one side of the bridge, while the engine was on the other. Four of the cars were smashed to pieces, piled one on the other in the water, and completely filling up the chasm, while two other cars lay on top of the whole, but partly on the bridge.

In one of the latter were two boys who were endeavoring to get to Albany without paying the company the usual consideration for the transit. They fortunately escaped being uninjured by the crash and the employes of the line.

No trace could be found of the engineer, John Heffernan, or of the fireman, whose name our informant did not ascertain. A hat and coat were found on the scene of the accident supposed to belong to some one of them. A party of men soon arrived on the spot, and after clearing the debris threw a temporary bridge across the river.

The train from Albany was due at this time but did not come on for a considerable time, about an hour and a half. The cause of the delay was another accident, which took place between Fishkill and Garrison. When the train was on its way between these points a man was observed on the track, the engineer whistled, but he took no notice of it, and before the engineer could stop the train he was struck.

The engineer at once returned and found that the man was badly cut. He appeared to be under the influence of liquor. This delayed the train about an hour and a half, and the supposition is that were it not for this delay the express train would have come right down on the baggage train, and the loss of life which must have ensued would be fearful.

Our informant also heard, at Garrison Station, that a man, an employe of the company, was killed the same evening, on the same line, by falling from the cars. The express was detained at Peekskill about five hours, while a bridge was being constructed to convey the passengers over the river to a train waiting to receive them on the other side. Damage about $50,000.

We understand that the road will be in order, and trains run regularly as usual to-day (Friday.)

Still Another Smash—Train Thrown Off the Track—One Man Injured.

Poughkeepsie, Thursday, March 9.

As the down express train on the Hudson River Railroad, which left Albany this morning, reached a point below Stuyvesant Station, it ran on a broken rail; the tender, express-car and five passenger-cars bounding from the track and lodging against the embankment on the east side. The train, at the time of the accident, was going at the rate of 35 miles per hour. Strange to say, but one person was hurt. He was a brakeman named Jenkins. His leg was broken. The track was badly obstructed, delaying all the down trains four or five hours.

FROM HILTON HEAD.

ARRIVAL OF THE FULTON.

Our Forces Advanced to the Santee River.

All Quiet in Charleston.

The United States steam transport Fulton, Capt. Wotton, from Hilton Head, S. C., March 6, at 1:30 P. M., to United States Quartermaster, arrived this afternoon.

The United States steamer Harvest Moon, Admiral Dahlgren's temporary flagship, was blown up by a torpedo on Thursday last, while coming out of Georgetown. The Admiral escaped injury. One man was seriously injured.

Everything is progressing smoothly in Charleston. Traders are beginning to open their stores, and the city is rapidly assuming a business aspect.

Gen. Jno. P. Hatch is in command of the Northern District, Department of the South, and Gen. Schimmelfinig of the defences about Charleston.

On the N. E. Railroad the cars are running as far as Goose Creek.

Gen. Potter has advanced to the Santee River without meeting opposition.

News has been received of the total destruction of Columbia by the rebel and our own forces.

OUR CHARLESTON CORRESPONDENCE.

The People Coming to Their Senses—Condition of the Citizens—From Columbia—Sherman's Movements—Rebel Incendiaries—Miscellaneous.

Charleston, S. C., Sunday, March 5, 1865.

Under the new order of things the people of Charleston are gradually coming to their senses, and evince a disposition to make the city once more the leading trading mart for this section of the country. When we first took possession the citizens were shy, and hesitated about making their appearance on the street, but now they come forth in swarms, and of course the majority of them profess to be on the side of the Union. Were it not for Northern enterprise, however, Charleston might remain in the same dormant state in which we found, it for years. But happily the new comers have infused a spirit of activity into the old inhabitants, and we shall see the city in a few months' time full of life and gaiety. Some of the citizens still cling to the hope that the rebel Government will eventually succeed in establishing itself on a firm basis, but the same citizens are laughed and jeered at by their more wise neighbors.

For the past week numerous inquiries have been made as to Sherman's progress through South Carolina. Many of the citizens here have laretives and friends in Columbia and vicinity, and are very anxious to learn of their fate. A few days ago the news was brought that Sherman had entered Columbia. In Columbia was stored an immense quantity of public and private property. To that place fled thousands of people from Charleston at the time Sherman was marching from Savannah.

It was not thought by the rebels that Sherman would travel so far inland; they had made up their minds that having captured Charleston he would be satisfied to remain on the coast a month, and then proceed in the direction of Wilmington. Acting on this impression, the citizens removed the most of their valuable property to Columbia, and, as a consequence, lost it all. We have not heard direct from Sherman since the news came of his being near Charlotte. The impression prevails in Charleston, even among those who sympathize with the rebels, that Sherman will succeed in joining his forces with Grant in Virginia. A few days ago, Beauregard, with eight thousand men, was dancing about somewhere in North Carolina for the purpose of opposing the progress of the Union forces. According to the statements of refugees, he was daily expecting reinforcements from Lee, although it seemed quite evident that Lee had none to spare. The people in Charleston will have to wait a long time before they get good news from rebeldom.

King-street is alive with business. One is astonished to see how some sutlers and other traders have taken stores and exposed goods for sale. The stores are doing an excellent business too. From morning till night they are thronged with customers. The great trouble is that the majority of the citizens have rebel money only. They appreciate the fact that this money is worthless; yet they are very reluctant to part with it without receiving a portion of an equivalent in return. The other day I saw a man who had $10,000 in rebel notes, and who was willing to exchange the entire amount for $500 in greenbacks, and could not find a purchaser. Men, who, before the war, were the wealthiest in the city, are now in the condition of the poorest. Yesterday a man, who, three years ago was worth two millions of dollars, confessed to me that he could not raise twenty dollars in current money if it has demanded of him to save his neck from the gallows. I looked at him, and thought he was just the fellow that the gallows had been waiting for during the past four years. A considerable amount of gold and silver is in circulation. It was the practice of the shrewd ones to turn their rebel rag currency into coin as often as an opportunity offered; hence we see many persons attired in soiled and tattered garments, with the real stuff in their pockets. In accordance with a general order, issued at the Post Headquarters, a premium of one hundred per cent. is allowed on gold, and seventy-five per cent. on silver. So far as subsistence stores are concerned, the citizens of Charleston appear to have been better off than their neighbors in Savannah. To be sure, they did not have a large quantity of meal, but of rice and corn they had an abundant supply. A large quantity of rice and corn, stored in public buildings, was seized by our authorities, and turned over to a committee of the citizens, to be distributed among the most needy.

A change has recently been made in the command of the district. Brig.-Gen. John P. Hatch is in command of the Northern District, Department of the South, his predecessor, Brig.-Gen. Schimmelfennig, having been assigned to the command of the defences about Charleston. Gen. Hatch is an officer of merit and ability, and has distinguished himself on several occasions on the field. He was in command of the forces that left Pocotaligo to proceed toward Charleston at the time Sherman commenced his campaign from Savannah. During that march Gen. Hatch encountered forces of the enemy at different points, but invariably drove them from their positions.

By a recent order, all citizens desiring any favor whatever from the Government, are required to call upon Provost-Marshal Willoughby and take the oath of allegiance. A large number of citizens have, consequently, availed themselves of this opportunity of proving their loyalty to the old Union. Among the number who have taken the oath of allegiance are several ladies; in fact, the first one to take the oath was a lady. Several parties have expressed their apprehension that by taking the oath they would be liable to be forced into the army—not discriminating between the wholesale conscription of the rebels and the system of draft as observed by our own authorities. They do not take into consideration the fact that any one who has served in the rebel ranks cannot, by established law, serve in a military capacity under the United States Government. I am sorry to observe that many persons who profess to be Union, have shown a reluctance to take the oath of allegiance. They proffer all manner of excuses, which simply mean that they are about as much rebel as Union in their composition. Under the present régime, the people of Charleston can take their choice—identify themselves as Unionists or rebels.

Maj.-Gen. Gillmore came up from Hilton Head yesterday. Since his arrival in the department he has been on the constant move. On one day we find him at Savannah, and on the following day at Charleston, or some other point on the coast. By some means the people of Charleston always know when Gen. Gillmore arrives in town. The moment his flagship touches the pier, a group of citizens are sure to make their appearance and extend him a hearty welcome. It is curious to notice the interest that the people take in informing each other of the fact that Gen. Gillmore has arrived. When he appears on the street, we are assured of his presence by the remarks that are made by those who espy him. One will say there goes Gen. Gillmore, the man who gave us so much uneasiness; and another will remark, there passes the officer who destroyed our city. All seem to look upon him as an officer worthy of their particular attention.

The other day we had a skirmish at Monk's Corner, a point on the county road, running nearly parallel with the Northwestern Railroad. The troops on our side engaged in the affair were under the immediate command of Brig.-Gen. Potter. They advanced in regular order toward the Santee River, intending to make that line their objective, but before they reached the bank a body of rebels made their appearance and disputed the progressive movement. This resulted in a skirmish, in which the rebels were routed. Our loss was only two wounded. The rebels lost a number of killed and wounded. To-day our men hold the line of the Santee River. The cars on the Northwestern Railroad are running as far as Goose Creek. We hold Somerville, which is twenty-two miles north of us; also several points farther to the west, on roads leading to Columbia.

Yesterday, Gen. Gillmore, accompanied by a party of ladies and gentlemen, among whom I noticed Capt. Wotton, of the steamship Fulton, his wife and daughter, paid a visit to the ruins of Sumter. The party were rowed to the fort in small boats from the steamer W. W. Coit, which anchored a short distance from the landing. They walked around the parapet, peered into the magazine, visited the casemates and bombproofs, and wondered at the immense amount of work that had been accomplished by our engineers and artillerists on Morris Island.

The news reached us to-day that the Harvest Moon, Admiral Dahlgren's temporary flagship, was blown up by a torpedo, near Georgetown, on Thursday last. The Admiral himself was aboard, but escaped injury. Only one man was injured by the explosion. The Harvest Moon was a sister ship to the Philadelphia, the latter having been used as a flagship by the Admiral for a long time.

On Friday last the freedmen of Florida presented a beautiful flag to the Twenty first Regiment, U. S. C. T. The presentation speech was made by Gen. U. S. Littlefield, and responded to by Lieut.-Col. A. G. Bennett, of the Twenty-first. The regiment was drawn up in line on Citadel-square, and received the colors from the hands of one of thirteen young girls. A band of music was in attendance, and the whole affair passed off in a most gratifying manner.

Last week Gen. Gillmore was made the recipient of a beautiful wreath, formed of magnolia leaves. Attached to the wreath was a slip of paper, bearing the following inscription:

"God save the United States.
Long live the United States.
Rule the United States."

The weather for the past week has been damp and disagreeable, but we are looking forward to warmth and sunshine. WHIT.

GEN. GRANT'S ARMY.

The Freshet in the James—Exchange of Prisoners Resumed—Report that Lynchburgh is in Our Possession.

Washington, Thursday, March 9.

Information from the Army of the Potomac says:

All is quiet in this department.

The freshet in the James River has nearly subsided, and the exchange of prisoners has been resumed.

A batch of released prisoners are expected down this morning.

Gen. Foster's division, of the Twenty-fourth Corps, was reviewed to-day, Tuesday, by Maj.-Gen. Ord. The day being fair the review passed off well. The troops presented a very good appearance, and elicited the highest encomiums from Gen. Ord, as well as from a large concourse of spectators.

A colored division of the Twenty-fifth Corps was also reviewed, and their appearance was equally commended.

A report is in circulation to the effect that Lynchburgh is in our possession, but it cannot be traced to any reliable source.

From Fortress Monroe.

Fortress Monroe, Wednesday, March 8.

The steamer Illinois arrived this morning from Port Royal, S. C., with the 500 rebel officers who were placed under rebel fire in retaliation for a similar exposure of our officers at Charleston. They will probably be sent to Varina to be exchanged.

The steamers Webosset, United States and Star arrived to-day from Fort Fisher. They bring no later news from Gen. Schofield's army, which still maintained its advanced position some ten miles from Wilmington, and until something definite is heard from Sherman, it would not hazard too far an advance.

In consequence of the stormy weather for a week past, many vessels have put into the roads for shelter.

EXPEDITION FROM KEY WEST.

Military and Naval Attack on St. Marks—Result of the Expedition Not Known.

Philadelphia, Thursday, March 9.

The Bulletin says:

"The United States steamship Bermuda, from the East and West Gulf Blockading Squadrons, has arrived at the navy-yard. She was due here on Monday afternoon, but in consequence of rough weather and the breaking of some machinery off Cedar Keys, she was delayed.

She reports that on the 24th of February, an expedition, under the command of Brig.-Gen. Newton, consisting of all the troops, both white and colored, stationed at Key West, and the gunboats Honduras, Britannia, Magnolia and Hendrick Hudson, started for the purpose of capturing St. Marks.

The result of the expedition had not been heard at the time the Bermuda sailed.

The Bermuda brings 400 sick and discharged soldiers and sailors."

Seven-Thirties.

Philadelphia, Thursday, March 9.

Jay Cooke reports the sales of 7.30s, to-day, to the amount of $4,065,150, including $135,000 from Chicago, and $1,000,000 from New-York, in single subscriptions, besides 2,843 individual subscriptions for $50 and $100 each.

OUTRAGES OF WHEELER'S CAVALRY.

Correspondence of the Richmond Whig.

Charlotte, Feb. 22, 1865.

Time has sufficiently quieted our nerves and restored a healthy circulation, to enable one to narrate a consistent story of the troublous hours through which we of Columbia have been led during the past week.

Sherman's advance on Columbia was unexpected Sudden as surprising, it found all unprepared for the events which followed, and few cool enough in the crisis to yield to any other than the bent of the first impulse. Hence hundreds are to-day exiles from home who would give almost their all to be safely back. They have learned that being a refugee don't pay.

Orangeburgh and Kingsville were supposed to be the highest points northward on that line at which Sherman would strike. The people who planned his campaign thought from thence he would branch off toward Charaw and Fayetteville, leaving Columbia untouched. Four days dispelled the illusion. Our troops fell back until the sounds of cannon reverberated through the city. Then public officers for the first time began to think of removing the Government stores. The instructions from Richmond had left many of them no other discretion. Hurry, excitement and some confusion became the order of the day. Everybody, public and private wanted a car. The President of the Charlotte and South Carolina Railroad, Col. Wm. Johnson, his assistants, Capt. Sharp, the agent of transportation, and his aids, now bent their energies to the Herculean task before them, and accomplished all that men could do. The trains from the South Carolina and Greenville roads were run upon the Charlotte track, filled and hurried away to return and fill again. Engines shrieked their signal notes, morning, noon and night. The activity was ceaseless. The depots were crowded with goods of every description. Passenger trains were thronged, ladies and families in their fright undergoing the most grievous torments of travel to escape from what they believed was a doomed city. The city resounded with the rumble of a thousand wheels, all bearing their freight to the grand funnel out of which it was to be discharged. Horses, wagons, negroes, everything that could aid in the removal of property, was brought into requisition, and between force and persuasion, an immense amount of labor was systematically, rapidly and judiciously employed.

By Wednesday night the tide was at its height. The enemy were within three miles. The little army in their front had given back step by step until, flanked out of the fortifications on the opposite side of the Congaree, they retired to the limits of the city itself, where a line of battle again reformed. Three or four shells thrown at the bridge increased the popular agitation until it became a fever. The stores were closed. Militia and detailed men were at the front. Army trains began to move through, and the truth at last flashed upon the minds of all, that Columbia must inevitably be evacuated. Few slept soundly in their beds during the night that followed.

Thursday, the 15th, the enemy opened on the city with shells. Some damage was done, but few casualties are reported. One gentleman only is said to have been killed. The State House, Nickerson's Hotel, South Carolinian office, together with some private residences, were paid an iron compliment, and the inmates evacuated without the usual polite formalities of leave-taking. Still the work of removal went bravely forward, and a vast amount was accomplished. The time was too brief, however, to do all, and hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of public and private property remained in and about the depot, as a prey to the Yankee torch and pilferer.

The worst feature of the entire scene occurred on the day of which I write. A party of Wheeler's cavalry, accompanied by their officers, dashed into town, tied their horses, and as systematically as if they had been bred to the business, proceeded to break into the stores along Main-street and rob them of their contents. A detachment of detailed men fired on one party and drove them out. Capt. Hamilton, the Provost-Marshal, with another officer, drew swords and pistols on another party, and succeeded in clearing several establishments; but the valiant raiders still swarmed like locusts, and to-day, a hundred miles away from Columbia, you may see men smoking the cigars and wearing on their saddles the elegant cloths stolen from the merchants of that city. It is said that two of the "cavalry" drew pistols on Gen. Hampton, who was attempting to protect a store, and threatened his life.

Under these circumstances you may well imagine that our people would rather see the Yankees or old Satan himself than a party of the aforesaid Wheeler's cavalry. The barbarities committed by some of them are represented to be frightful, "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" being perfectly incompatible with their presence.

Common rumor says that Sherman's treatment of citizens and private property was uniformly lenient and conciliatory. His headquarters were at Nickerson's Hotel.

The scenes up the railroad may be briefly described. Crowds at every depot seeking temporary shelter; some getting off, more getting on; twenty trains thundering one after the other in quick succession; screaming locomotives, crying babies, tearful women, families traveling in box cars among piles of bacon, salt, bandboxes, trunks and bed clothes; a break down near Winsboro; engine off the track; ten hours delay; enemy reported coming; more consternation; a long night; no wood, no water, no breakfast; ten carloads of ladies of the Treasury Department in most unattractive morning dishabille, with hair unkempt, and hollow, deepy eyes, shivering about in the red mucillaginous mud; ten or twelve carloads of Yankee prisoners just ahead, likewise at a dead halt; the guards around their camp fires, and the individuals of a cerulean aspect singing with tremendous energy Union songs; still ahead, the section-masters and bricklayers, with a gang of laborers repairing the road and holding post-mortem consultations over the remains of a deserted engine—finally, a run back three miles, a filling of tanks, a fresh start, and arrival at Charlotte. There an avalanche upon the good people, an appeal to hospitality which is most warmly heeded, and a gradual simmering down of all the elements in agitation. Such, in brief, is the history of our evacuation of Columbia.

Philadelphia, Thursday, March 9.

All letters and packages for the officers and crews of the several vessels composing the North and South Atlantic Blockading Squadrons of the United States navy, left or forwarded to the office of Joseph E. Dority & Co., No. 427 Walnut-street, Philadelphia, will be forwarded at 10 A. M., on Saturday morning next, by the United States steamer Massachusetts, free of any charge.

Cairo, Thursday, March 9.

It is reported that the court-martial at Paducah has acquitted Gen. Paine of all charges preferred against him.

Gen. Paine having accused Mr. Alexander, of Paducah, of giving false testimony before the Military Commission last Fall, the latter individual attacked him on the street yesterday, with a revolver, and he was forced into an encounter. Alexander was arrested and lodged in the guard-house.

New-Jersey Legislature.

Trenton, N. J., Thursday, March 9.

The General County Bill, after the veto of the Governor, was defeated. A new bill has been introduced.

In the Senate the bill was passed to allow the State bounty to the families of naval recruits and colored volunteers. Mr. Scovil, of Camden, and Mr. Randolph, of Hudson, advocated the bill.

THIRTY-NINTH CONGRESS.

SENATE—EXTRA SESSION.

Washington, Thursday, March 9.

THE COMMITTEES.

The Sprague rose to a question personal to himself. He had been serving as a member of the Committee on Military Affairs—but the caucus which recently remodeled the committees had transferred him from the Military Committee to the Committee on the Public Lands, without any previous knowledge on his part. His State (Rhode Island) had little or no interest in the public lands. She was among the first to offer troops to put down the rebellion, and having himself served with them, and having much interest in legislation pertaining to the military service, he had, with much pleasure, served on the Military Committee. He asked to be excused from serving on the Committee on Public Lands.

Mr. Johnson said this involved an unpleasant duty on the part of the Senate, and he appealed to the Senator to withdraw his request.

Mr. Wilson said that when the Senator served on the Military Committee he was always found attentive to his duties. He (Wilson) was surprised when he heard the Senator had been transferred to another committee. He (Wilson) was sure that the change was in no way intended to be disrespectful.

Mr. Pomeroy did not presume too much in saying that the Senator would be welcome as a member of committee on Public Lands. As to Rhode Island not being interested in the public lands he would say that she was much concerned in the general question as any other State.

Mr. Conness was satisfied that there had been no intention to slight the Senator from Rhode Island.

Mr. Sprague said he had no further remarks to make. He thought the circumstances and justice demanded that the Senate should accede to his request.

Mr. Sherman said he could not vote to excuse the Senator. He knew the difficulty in forming committees, and he had no doubt that an entirely satisfactory reason could be given for the change. He was satisfied that no disrespect was intended.

Mr. Clark said that he, himself, was placed on the Military Committee, and would change with the Senator the Public Lands.

Mr. Sprague thanked the Senator for his kindness, but could not accept of his proposition. He should have been glad to serve on the Committee on Military Affairs, as his heart had been with military matters since the beginning of the war. He had left a command to come to this body.

The Senate refused to excuse Senator Sprague from service on the Committee on Public Lands.

INTERNAL REVENUE BILL.

On motion of Mr. Sherman, the Senate ordered the printing of 5,000 copies of the amended Internal Revenue Bill, which is to be properly indexed.

THE ARKANSAS SENATORS.

Mr. Trumbull, from the Committee on the Judiciary, made a report on the credentials of Mr. Snow, Senator elect from Arkansas.

The committee say that in 1861, the constituted authorities of the State of Arkansas, so far as they could succeed, took the State beyond the authority of the United States, and that in pursuance of a law of Congress, the President, by proclamation, declared the inhabitants of that State to be included in the insurrection. Therefore, the committee recommend that the question of admission be postponed until the next Session, and until Congress shall take action in regard to the existing State Government of Arkansas.

The report was adopted.

VIRGINIA SENATORS.

Mr. Doolittle presented the credentials of John C. Underwood, as Senator elect from the State of Virginia, for six years from the 4th of March, 1865.

Mr. Trumbull said the Committee on the Judiciary had just made a report in the case of Arkansas, which was in a similar condition to Virginia, and it was therefore likely the committee would come to a similar conclusion.

Mr. Henderson did not indorse the Senator's views. He did not believe that the President's proclamation precluded the Senate from taking action on the subject of admitting Senators. We should encourage the reëstablishment of the local State Governments as a means of putting down the rebellion and guerrilla incursions.

ELECTION OF A CHAPLAIN.

The subject was temporarily laid aside in order to execute the special order, namely: The election of a chaplain for the Thirty-ninth Congress.

Mr. Lane, of Indiana, nominated Rev. Dr. Bowman, (Methodist,) the present incumbent.

Mr. Harris nominated Rev. Dr. Gray, a Baptist clergyman, of Washington.

Thirty-nine votes were cast, of which 20 were necessary to a choice.

Rev. Dr. Gray having received 27 votes, he was declared duly elected Chaplain.

VIRGINIA SENATOR AGAIN.

The consideration of the credentials of Judge Underwood was then resumed.

Mr. Doolittle said the State of Virginia had been recognized by the Executive and by Congress. The Senate, when West Virginia was set apart as a separate State Government, admitted Senators from the remaining part of Virginia.

The further consideration of the subject was then postponed until the next session.

MORE UNSETTLED SEATS.

On motion, the credentials of Joseph Segar, of Virginia, and Michael Hahn, of Louisiana, were withdrawn from the file, to be presented and laid over until the next session.

Mr. Morrill, from the Committee on Contingent Expenses, reported against the resolution referred to them to allow pay and mileage to the Senators from Arkansas and Louisiana, on the ground of a want of jurisdiction, and therefore they asked to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

The resolution lies over.

NAVAL CONTRACTS.

Mr. Nye offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy be requested to organize a board of not less than three competent persons, whose duty it shall be to inquire into and determine how much the vessels of war and steam machinery contracted for by the department in the years 1862 and 1863 cost the contractors over and above the contract price and allowance for extra work, and report the same to the Senate at its next session; none but those that have given satisfaction to the department to be considered.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

The Senate then went into executive session, and upon the opening of the doors again, at 2:30 P. M., adjourned.

The Philadelphia and Trenton Railroad Accident.

INVESTIGATION BY A CORONER'S JURY—THE VERDICT.

From the Philadelphia Ledger, March 9.

Yesterday morning the Coroner's Jury met at Bristol for the purpose of examining into the cause of the accident on the Philadelphia and Trenton Railroad on Tuesday morning last.

Twenty-four of the soldiers wounded by this sad accident are still at White House Hospital, near Bristol. All of them, with but one or two exceptions, are in a fair way to recover, though a number will be crippled for life.

Bucks County, ss: The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.—An inquisition taken at Bristol, in the county of Bucks aforesaid, on the 17th and 18th days of March, A. D., 1865, before Wm. Earley, Coroner for the county of Bucks, upon view of the dead bodies of Joseph Wilds, from Bensalem Township; Wm. Morton, of New-York, Corp., Co. L, 2d Conn., H. Art.; Moses Goddard, of Westfield, Vt., Co. D, 5th Vermont Vols.; Asa Drew, of Georgetown, Massachusetts, Co. C, 28th Massachusetts Vols.; Timothy Leddy, of the City of New-York, then and there lying dead; and upon the solemn oaths and affirmations respectively of Frank Pratt, John Davis, Thomas Callanan, Pugh Dungan, Jacob C. Hamilton, John McDonnell, six good and lawful men aforesaid, charged to inquire (on the part of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania) when, how and by what means the said Joseph Wilds, William Morton, Moses Goddard, Asa Drew and Timothy Leddy came to their deaths, do, upon their solemn oaths and affirmations, respectfully say, that it appears from the evidence before them, that the said Joseph Wilds, William Morton, Moses Goddard, Asa Drew and Timothy Leddy came to their deaths about 22 minutes past 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning, March 7, 1865, in consequence of an accident on the Philadelphia and Trenton Railroad, in the borough of Bristol:

Said accident resulting from a want of proper caution on the part of the switch-tender at Neshamony Bridge in not stopping the Washington train according to the orders given him by the conductor of the 12 o'clock P. M. train from Philadelphia, believing, according to the evidence given, that there was a misunderstanding on the part of said switch-tender as to those orders, which, in their opinion, tends to mitigate the censure which otherwise would fall upon said switch-tender; and the jury further exonerates the employes on the trains from all blame.

In witness whereof as well, the said Coroner as the said jurors have to this inquisition set their hands and seals the day and year just mentioned. William Earley, Coroner; Frank Pratt, Pugh Dungan, John Davis, Jacob C. Hamilton, Thomas Callanan, John McDonnell.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Department of the East.

FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS RECOVERED FROM BOUNTY BROKERS—THE CASE OF DEPEN, ETC.

It is not generally known that at the headquarters of the Department of the East, Maj. JOLLINE, of Gen. DIX's Staff, has devoted a large portion of his time, during the past year, to the discovery of bounty frauds, and the restitution of bounties taken from our soldiers. The astounding amount of fifty thousand dollars has been recovered and paid over by this efficient officer to the representatives of enlisted men, and there are upon the Major's desk to-day a pile of letters and communications on this subject from all parts of the department, high enough to convince the most skeptical of the vastness of the undertaking.

We learn, upon inquiry, that DEPEW, whose case was stated in yesterday's TIMES, was formerly in the employ of the department as a detective. In this capacity he developed tact, enterprise and success, and was about the only man in this branch of the service that seemed worthy of confidence. It seemed courteous that if DEPEW had been guilty of fraud while in Gen. DIX's employ, that he should be taken before that officer, where he would have had a prompt investigation and received such punishment as he deserved. It is folly to suppose that Gen. DIX intend any interference with Col. BAKER. On the contrary, the greatest good feeling prevails at headquarters toward the Colonel, and several cases have been sent from Maj. JOLLINE to the Astor House.

Maj. BOLLES is detained at the East longer than he anticipated, and the case of KENNEDY, alias STANTON, will not probably be commenced until his return.

Board of Aldermen.

COMMISSIONERS OF DEEDS APPOINTED—ACCOMMODATIONS FOR THE OYSTER TRADE.

This board met at 2 P. M., yesterday, Mr. BRICE in the chair.

A resolution was adopted instructing the Comptroller to sell at public auction for a term of ten years, the lease of the Piers No. 51, 52 and 53, North River, and the bulkheads adjoining said piers and bulkheads, to be used only by persons engaged in the oyster trade.

The list of Commissioners of Deeds for the present year was taken up and adopted.

An ordinance, making an additional appropriation of $500,000 for the relief of families of volunteers, was laid over, and the board adjourned to Monday next.

Board of Councilmen.

VETO FROM THE MAYOR—THE OYSTER TRADE PROVIDED FOR—DRIVERS OF CITY RAILROAD CARS TO BE LICENSED.

This Board met at 2 P. M. yesterday, Mr LENT presiding. A message was received from the Mayor, vetoing the resolution authorizing the City Inspector to enter into a contract with DANIEL GALLAGHER to remove the night soil from the city for a period of ten years—GALLAGHER paying the city $4,000 per year for the privilege of removing the same. The Mayor says:

"I should have preferred if the resolution had authorized a contract to be entered into, after a fair and open competition, but I have been advised by the Counsel to the Corporation that it creates a mere license, and that the provisions of the charter relative to contracts in general are not applicable. I am, however, constrained to regard a grant of a license of this character, to continue for so long a period as ten years, as incompatible with the interests of the city. I consider it also objectionable in not making it obligatory on the party undertaking the work, to receive the material free of expense to all who may deliver the same, as well as the New-York Night Scavengers' Company. The exception in favor of this company might imply a right, vested in the contractor, to compel others to pay for what hitherto has been received free of charge. The power to levy such a tax on our citizens would be dangerous in the extreme."

The message was laid over.

The resolution, adopted by the other board relative to setting apart piers Nos. 51, 52 and 53, North River, for the oyster trade, was concurred in.

An ordinance was read, providing that hereafter, the drivers of city railroad cars must provide themselves with a license and wear badges, under a penalty of $10, the police being instructed to see that the provisions of the ordinance was carried out.

The ordinance was adopted, and the board adjourned.

Meeting of Ship-Owners.

A SHIP-OWNERS' ASSOCIATION TO BE FORMED.

At 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon a meeting of ship-owners was held at the Chamber of Commerce, in pursuance of the following call:

NEW-YORK, Thursday, Feb. 23.

In the judgment of many gentlemen an association seems necessary to guard their interests, as ship-owners, from the liabilities and restrictions to which they are at present exposed, not to their individual detriment only, but also to the injury of the mercantile marine of our country.

With the view of forming such an association, the undersigned recommend that a public meeting of ship and steamship owners of New-York be called on an early day, of which due notice be given to all parties interested.

The following gentlemen were present: GEORGE GRISWOLD, JOHN S. WILLIAMS, ROBERT C. MINTURN, Jr., JAMES R. FROTHINGHAM, JAMES LAWSON, STEPHEN W. CAREY, W. D. MORGAN, CHARLES H. MARSHALL, and other prominent representatives of the shipping interests of this city.

GEORGE GRISWOLD, Esq., presided, and CHARLES H. MARSHALL, Jr., and W. D. MORGAN, were chosen Secretaries of the meeting.

Mr. JAMES H. FROTHINGHAM, of the firm of HOWLAND & FROTHINGHAM, said for many years past ship-owners have been suffering under heavy burdens which seriously affect their interests and threaten their ultimate ruin. These burdens have been increased by the favoring influences of the war. Matters had now reached a point where it would seem that ships sail more for the advantage of everybody else than for that of their owners. He believed this condition attached to the whole shipping interests. The unfair charges to which our ships, whether coming or going, are subjected, he trusted, would receive the consideration of the meeting. It almost seemed that our ships had no rights, and the matter would continue to grow worse unless the ship-owners adopted prompt and effective measures for redress. The time seemed to be auspicious for such a movement. Efforts had heretofore been made informally by ship-owners to lessen the weight of the burdens imposed upon them. But these were unsuccessful. It now remained for another movement to be made, and the meeting had been called for that purpose, its object being to present the rights of ship-owners and to consider the laws which bear upon their general interests.

Mr. FROTHINGHAM concluded by offering the following preamble and resolution:

Whereas, In the judgment of this meeting, it is proper to form an association to guard the rights of the ship and steamship owners of New-York, protecting them from the liabilities and restrictions to which they are at present exposed; therefore,

Resolved, That a committee of fifteen be appointed by the chairman, to draft a constitution and by-laws for the organization of such an association, and that said committee report to a subsequent meeting, to be called at an early day by the chairman.

The resolution was adopted, and the following gentlemen appointed as such committee: John S. Williams, Chairman, Wm. Howland, Francis Hathaway, Stephen W. Carey, Arthur Leary, Henry W. O. Edge, A. L. McCready, James H. Frothingham, William H. Swan, Randolph M. Cooley, D. Colden Murray, John G. Dale, F. A. Crocker, W. C. Sturgis, Meredith Howland.

On motion, the Chairman and Secretaries were added to the committee, with power to fill vacancies, after which the meeting adjourned.

WOMEN'S WORK AND WAGES.—Miss DICKENSON's lecture this evening will afford an excellent opportunity for those who, wishing to hear her, have heretofore been repelled from doing so by dislike of her politics. Her subject to-night, "The Work and Wages of Women," is one upon which many who may not like to hear a woman talk politics, will admit that she may speak with great propriety. Those who have heard her most frequently regard this as her best lecture.

The Strong Divorce Suit—Interesting Affidavit Containing a History of the Case.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Judge McCunn.

Peter R. Strong vs. Mary E. Strong.—This is one of the most remarkable cases ever brought before the public of this city through the courts. The details are in a great measure as yet secret, but enough of the case is now known to stamp it as one of the causes celebres of the day. The lady who appears as defendant was for a long time one of the queens of society, and is a daughter of John Austin Stevens, a well-known and honored resident of this city. The plaintiff, Mr. Peter R. Strong, is a gentleman of wealth and culture and a member of the New-York bar. The plaintiff charges that Mrs. Strong was guilty of adultery and infidelity to her marriage vows, and, as adding to the enormity of her offence, this criminal intercourse is alleged to have been carried on between Mrs. Strong and her brother-in-law, Mr. Strong's own brother. The case has been on the day calendar of the Superior Court for several days, but yesterday morning a motion was made by the plaintiff's counsel to put the case over for reasons stated in the following affidavit, which was read to the court:

City and County of New-York, SS.: Peter R. Strong, of Newtown, in the County of Queens, and State of New-York, plaintiff in the above entitled action, being duly sworn, saith: That said action was commenced on the 14th day of January, 1864, for the purpose of obtaining a divorce from the defendant on the ground of adultery; that said adultery became known to defendant on the 5th day of January, 1862, by the voluntary confession of the defendant, and that the fact of its commission by her, and of a criminal connection continued for nearly two years immediately preceding said confession, has been repeatedly acknowledged by the defendant to this deponent, and, as he is informed and believes, to members of her own family, and to others, both verbally and in writing. That at the time of said confession, and for some time thereafter, defendant showed signs of the deepest humiliation, contrition and remorse, and expressed willingness to submit to any lot which deponent might see fit to impose; and that deponent, trusting thereto, and also relying upon the assurances of various members of her family, who were aware of the facts, that his claim for a divorce should not be affected by a delay in prosecuting such claim, and that no defence would be offered, and moved by feelings of consideration for his children and for his own and defendant's family, did, for the space of one year, make the effort to conceal her shame by residing under the same roof with her and his children, but occupying separate apartments, having no marital relations with her, and, as far as possible, avoiding her society; but that becoming at length convinced by defendant's behaviour that her feelings had changed, and that she was disposed to exhibit a spirit of defiance, utterly inconsistent with her former professions, he found it impossible to continue the effort, and therefore abandoned it; that, as deponent believes, defendant's change of behavior arose from hopes held out to her by counsel, that she might safely assume said attitude of defiance on certain technical grounds of defence, especially the supposed difficulty of procuring legal proofs of her guilt; deponent further says that the answer of said defendant, which is not under oath, denies the adultery charged in the complaint, and further alleges that (supposing it to have been committed) it has been pardoned and condoned by this deponent, which latter allegation is untrue; that, previous to the commencement of this action, negotiations were in progress between this deponent and the defendant, with the object, on the part of this deponent, of arranging the terms of a separation between deponent and the defendant without legal proceedings, and without making the real ground of such separation public. That with the sole object of preventing such publicity, the deponent repeatedly offered to waive his right to a divorce provided only the custody of his two infant daughters were given him, stating at the same time that his exclusive legal right to such custody being secured, he would exercise his discretion as to the future intercourse of the defendant with his children, such discretion to be regulated by and dependant upon the interests of the children and the future conduct of the defendant, but this condition was declined by the defendant, and this action was not commenced until deponent had exhausted all means of securing the custody of his two daughters by negotiations and concessions. Deponent further saith that after the commencement of this action, and on the 4th day of June, 1864, he caused a writ of habeas corpus returnable on the 11th of said month to be served on the defendant requiring her to produce deponent's daughter Alice, then aged five years; that the defendant and said Alice were then residing at the house of the defendant's father in the City of New-York; that between said 4th and 11th days of June said defendant secretly left said house taking Alice with her; and that deponent has ever since been unable, after using his utmost efforts to discover, where the defendant has been residing, or where his said child has been secreted by her; and that the father of defendant and other members of her immediate family, who were examined under oath in the course of subsequent proceedings under said writ of habeas corpus, severally denied all knowledge or information as to her place of abode, or the disposition she has made of deponent's said child; deponent further says that on or about the 28th day of September last notices appeared in certain papers, printed in this city, known as the New-York Herald and Journal of Commerce, announcing the death of his said child as having occurred at Portland, in Maine. That deponent, after thorough investigation at Portland aforesaid, has reason to believe that said announcements were false and fraudulent, and that his said child was living at the date of their publication, and that they were published by the defendant, or some person on her behalf, with the intent to deceive him and cause him to abandon all efforts to discover his said child and the further prosecution of this action, the other of his two daughters being in his own custody. Deponent says, that in November, 1864, the defendant, by her attorney's in this action, obtained an ex parte order for the examination of deponent's mother, conditionally as a witness therein. That his said mother was then aged seventy-six years and upward, infirm and of failing memory; had been totally blind for the last twelve years, owing to a paralytic attack, and was wholly unacquainted with any facts relevant to the issues in this action, except such as could be proven by many other witnesses. That deponent, through his counsel, remonstrated with the defendant's attorneys against this vexatious proceeding, and produced to them a statement from her medical adviser that, in his opinion, such a proceeding would endanger her life, but that they nevertheless insisted on such examination; that thereupon the examination was held, and the deposition of the witness duly taken; and that it appears by said deposition, as this deponent is advised and believes, that the witness knew and could have known nothing about the question at issue in this case but what many other persons could have been called to prove. Deponent further says that on or about the 17th of October, 1864, the defendant, by her attorneys in this action, procured an order for the examination of one Mrs. Electa M. Potter, as a witness therein on part of defendant, and sought to prove by her that the defendant had, soon after confessing the adulterous intercourse aforesaid, experienced a miscarriage; that such miscarriage was artificially produced, and that this deponent had been concerned in producing it; that said Mrs. Potter gave no evidence to that effect, but testified that she had never seen the defendant, and that she knew the plaintiff only as agent for the owner of a house in Waverly Place, of which her husband was tenant; and that said Mrs. Potter has subsequently testified that John Austin Stevens, Jr., a brother of the defendant, had offered her a large sum of money if she would swear to the matters above-mentioned, as sought to be proven on behalf of the defendant, and also that he had declared to her his intention to disgrace and ruin deponent, as by the deposition of said last-mentioned witness will on reference more fully appear; deponent further says that in January, 1865, when deponent was ready for the trial of this action, and expecting it soon to be called for trial, the defendant applied to this Court for leave to file a supplemental answer setting up adultery by deponent with this same Mrs. Electa M. Potter, and with other persons unknown; that the allegations thus sought to be introduced into the record of this case are untrue, and without color of truth, and that deponent has never been unfaithful to his wife either before or since his discovery of her infidelity to him. That the last-mentioned application was founded on affidavits by two women passing by the names of Massey and Walsh, reputed of loose character, one of whom, the said Massey, deponent has never seen or known, and who, as deponent is informed and believes, has been for a long time past, and is now hiding, part of the time, under an assumed named, and cannot be found so as to be cross-examined on her deposition in this action, after diligent and strenuous efforts to find her, deponent having employed for a long time, without success, a detective and other agents for the purpose of discovering her residence or whereabouts, and the counsel for the defendant having refused to disclose her residence. That on the 22d day of February last the said Mrs. E. M. Potter was arrested on an indictment procured at the February term of the Court of Sessions, charged with an abortion produced on one Mrs. Adams, (whom this deponent never saw or of whom he never heard prior to said indictment;) that the only evidence before the Grand Jury on which such indictment was found, was the testimony of the said women Walsh and Massey; that as plaintiff is informed and believes, the affidavits of said women, which were presented to the District Attorney, before the indictment was found, were prepared by the attorneys for the defendant in this action; that deponent is informed and believes that John McKeon, one of the counsel, and Eldridge S. Gerry, one of the attorneys, and counsel of the defendants, caused the said indictment to be obtained, and as counsel had charge of procuring the same, and that the brief of the facts now in the District Attorney's office is in the handwriting of the said Gerry; that the said defendant and her counsel do not pretend to, in any way, connect deponent with the said indictment and criminal prosecution, and the said defendant and her counsel had no interest whatever in the said Mrs. Adams or in the said criminal proceeding charged, nor is there any circumstance whatever that justifies or calls upon them to act as private prosecutors therein; and deponent believes that their only motive in causing the said indictment to be procured was to improperly affect this action, the trial thereof, and a possible witness therein; and this deponent further says that he is informed and believes, that the defendant by her said counsel, at the last February term of the Court of Sessions, endeavored to obtain an indictment against deponent for procuring an abortion on defendant in the Spring of 1862, soon after the avowal of adulterous criminality; that for that purpose they caused the said woman, Massey, to go before the Grand Jury, and with one, Mrs. Barbier, to give evidence to sustain the said charge; that the defendant is informed and believes that the said Barbier gave no evidence inculpating deponent, and the said Massey gave no legal evidence against the deponent; that the Grand Jury on this evidence refused to indict; that thereupon the said defendant, through her said counsel, caused her sister, Mrs. Richard Heckscher, to come forward as a witness and testify to alleged admissions, and the second time the Grand Jury refused to indict, not deeming the evidence sufficient; that thereupon the said sister of the defendant appeared a second time before the Grand Jury and gave further evidence of alleged admissions, and thereupon the Grand Jury, on the 21st day of February, indicted this defendant; that the deponent has pleaded not guilty to the said indictment, and is ready for trial, and is endeavoring to have the said indictment forthwith tried, deponent being anxious for an immediate trial. And this deponent further says, that he is innocent of the charge contained in the said indictment. That deponent's information as to how the said indictment was procured is obtained from the District-Attorney's office: that there is on file in the District-Attorney's office, in the handwriting of the said Gerry, counsel for defendant, a written brief of facts of the proposed testimony of the said Massey and the said Barbier, to procure the indictment against deponent, and as deponent is informed and believes the affidavit of the said Massey, submitted to the District Attorney before the said indictment was found, was prepared in the office of the said Gerry; and deponent further says, on his information and belief, that this action has been thus far contested without any defence on the merits thereof, but by oppressive and vexatious efforts hereinbefore stated to deter him from its prosecution, namely, by the abduction of his child, the endangering his mother's health and life, and by attempting to injure his character and prejudice his cause in the eyes of the public prior to the trial of this action.

PETER R. STRONG.

Sworn to before me this 9th day of March, 1865.
ROBERT MACKLIN, Notary Public.

After reading the above statement, Mr. Cram said that he would be unable to try the case in the Court of Sessions before next term, and he desired to receive the acquittal of his client there before this action was tried. Defendant's counsel opposed this, and his Honor put the case over until this morning to afford defendants an opportunity of answering the affidavit.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Judge Russel.

The evidence showed clearly that on the 9th of January, 1865, the prisoner entered the store of William L. Burke, No. 210 Broadway in company with another woman, while her accomplice engaged the attention of the clerks, the prisoner secreted about her person a fur cape valued at $90, and a fur collar of the value of $30. She was arrested shortly afterward, and the property found upon her person. The jury found her guilty without leaving their seats, and she was sentenced to be confined in the State Prison for two years. This woman had excited the pity of the spectators by her poverty-stricken appearance. She came to the bar with two little children by her side, and a sickly infant in her arms. After hearing her sentence, the poor creature burst out into a succession of heart-rending moans, and was taken from the court-room moaning and weeping.

The next case tried was that of John Hughes, indicted for petit larceny from the person. The prisoner was a soldier in the Army of the Potomac, visiting this city on furlough, having been recently released from Southern prisons. The principal witness was a little girl named Zelia Toner, about eight years old, who testified that she lived in Harlem, and that on the 11th of January last her mother gave her a five dollar bill and sent her to the grocery to get half a pound of butter. She received the butter and $4 65 in change and started to go home, it being then about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Before she got home, while passing through One Hundred and Twenty-fifth-street, she was assailed by two young men, one of whom held her, while the other took her money, and both ran away. The girl described the boy that took the money as dressed in a dark blue blouse, dark pants and a hickory shirt. The prisoner was arrested on the second day after, but none of the money was found on him. The defence was an alibi, the prisoner's counsel endeavoring to show at the time when the alleged crime was committed his client was with some friends playing cards, and also that he was dressed in full uniform that day, and had an overcoat on, thus differing materially from the girl's statement as to the clothing worn by her assailant. The jury found Hughes guilty, with a recommendation to the mercy of the court. The prisoner was sent back until Friday, when he will be sentenced.

Jacob Holland, charged with stealing a lot of wearing apparel from a house in which he was employed as a waiter, was brought up for trial. Prisoner said he was willing to plead guilty to an attempt at grand larceny; that he took the property and pawned it to pay a sum of money that he owed. He was sent to the State Prison for two years.

Mary Anne Bradshaw was tried for taking from the pocket of a Mrs. Isadore the sum of $2 50.

The complainant testified that on the 18th of January last she was shopping in Washington Market, and had in her pocket $2 50. She bought some things, and before she left the market she missed her pocket-book. One of the stall-keepers told her that prisoner had taken it, and she had the girl arrested. The stall-keeper testified that he saw the prisoner around the market in the morning, and being told that she was a pick-pocket, he followed and saw her lift complainant's shawl and pick the lady's pocket. He then siezed her until an officer came up. The stall-keeper, whose name is Ignatius Buckman, deserved great credit for his exertions in effecting the arrest of this woman. She was convicted, and sentenced to be confined in the States Prison for two years. When sentenced, she said to his Honor: "Well, the devil is in it, when a woman gets two years for a first offence."

A motion was made to admit to bail James McDonald and James Clark, arrested by Capt. Hart as accessories after the fact to the murder of Henry Lazarus by Bernard Friary. It appears that Capt. Hart, who has been looking for these men for a long time, found them this morning in the hall-way, near the Court of Sessions. The case was set down for argument to-morrow morning on the question of bail, and in the mean time the prisoners were taken to the tombs. The court then adjourned.

Supreme Court—Chambers.

Before Judge Barnard.

Beebe vs. Hatch et al., Executors of Hogan Estate.—This action was commenced by the plaintiff as assignee of one Codling to recover some $14,000 for work and materials furnished Robert Hogan in his lifetime on a couple of houses in Madison-avenue.

The executors of the estate pleaded payment in full, and that the work, though wholly paid for, according to the contract, was abandoned before completion.

The referee reported in favor of the executors on all the issues, and gave his certificate that the case was complicated in its facts, and involved on the part of the attorney of the personal representatives a laborious examination of long and intricate accounts, besides great labor and care, on which the counsel for the estate now moved for a confirmation of the referee's report an extra allowance.

Motion to confirm report granted, and an allowance of $500 to the defendants.

Roswell D. Hatch for motion and defendants; T. J. Clute for plaintiffs, opposed.

Superior Court Decisions.

Butler; Samuel B. Potter vs. James R. Canneas, and John H. Mead vs. Wm. Cauldwell; the order asked for is granted in each case; Sophia B. Morris vs. Wm. H. Morris; the evidence is insufficient.

An Action Against the Consolidated Stage Company.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

Forbes Holland vs. The New-York Consolidated Stage Company and Augustus Schell.—The plaintiff in this action is a judgment creditor, and he now makes a motion for the appointment of a receiver, for the purpose of selling so much of the assets as may be necessary to liquidate the amount of his claims. An assignment of the company's effect had been made to the defendant Schell, and plaintiff contended that the same had not been made in good faith and was in direct conflict with the statutes. The decision in the case is reserved.

For plaintiff, Mr. J. H. Coleman; for defendants, Charles A. Rapallo and Ex-Judge Allen.

THURSDAY, March 9—P. M.

The advices from Europe by the Cuba, last evening, strengthen the belief that the circulation of our 5-20 Bonds is rapidly extending on the Continent, and is finding favor even with the English people. New markets have been opened of late in other German Capitals than Frankfort and Hamburgh, (where these Bonds have been favorably known for nearly two years,) and in Berlin, especially, the transactions since the New Year have been very large. Letters quoted in the London papers, and private information to German houses in this city, represent the orders for these Bonds as coming from all quarters and in all sorts of sums, numerous small purchases being made for the iterior towns and cities. This movement has come unsought by our Government, and it is gratifying to know that whatever portion of our Funded Public Debt finds its way abroad, the purchases have been entirely voluntary and dictated, by the calmest and least prejudiced judgment of the credit and resources of the United States to meet and overcome the cost by exigencies of a great civil war.

These increased orders for United States Bonds, which weaken Exchange, have contributed to the previous dullness of the Gold-Room, and we have to note, to-day, a further decline of 2½@3 ℘ cent. Some bold and extraordinary efforts were made last night to arrest the decline, which had the effect to hold the price steady at 195@196 ℘ cent., but only so long as the parties engaged in the movement left their bids on the floor. Sales were made this afternoon as low as 193½ ℘ cent.

At the Stock Exchange the Government Bonds were all firm, and on Wall-street, as well as at the Board, large transactions were made in 5-20s, and in the long 6 ℘ cents of 1881. As remarked yesterday, there is a good deal going on in the way of supplying the original 5-20 Bonds to the foreign orders, and repurchasing the other Gold-bearing Stocks. The 1881s being the longest positive 6 ℘ cent. Stock, has the preference with many of our moneyed corporations as an investment not to be disturbed hereafter by the reduction of the rate of Gold interest.

The subscriptions to the 7-30 ℘ cent. Loan are favorably influenced by the rise in price and demand abroad of the 5-20 Bonds, into which Loan it is convertible year after next. We hear that the National Bank of Commerce has subscribed for $1,000,000; Messrs. LIVERMORE, CLEWS & Co., (to-day,) for $500,000; the First National Bank for $200,000, and the Ninth National for $400,000.

There is continued agitation in the Railway speculation at the Stock Exchange. Erie, among the New-York Roads, is especially weak, and the Preference 7 ℘ cent. shares of the Company were offered down to to-day to 85 ℘ cent. There is more resistance to the prevailing Bear temper of the market by New-York Central, Hudson River, Rock Island and Michigan Southern. The fluctuations in New-York Central are quite frequent through the day, and as much as 2 ℘ cent. in a few hours. Cleveland and Pittsburgh was most depressed among the Western lines. Rock Island firm.

At 4 o'clock the Gold Room 194, after touching 193½ ℘ cent. There is increased depression in the Railways. Governments remain firm:

Messrs. WINSLOW, LANIER & Co. have been appointed sub-agents for the sale of the 7-30 Popular Loan, and have all denominations on hand for immediate delivery. See advertisement.

We regret to record the decease of Mr. WATTS SHERMAN, of the banking house of Messrs. DUNCAN, SHERMAN & Co. This event, which occurred in the Island of Madeira, whither Mr. SHERMAN had gone in a weak state of health, is telegraphed from Lisbon by the steamer Cuba. It was not unlooked for by his partners in New-York, who have been deprived of his presence, by his illness, for a year or two. But his death is not the less painful to a numerous circle of social and banking friends, both here and in England. He was one of the founders of the house, and came to this city in 1851, from Albany, where he had occupied the post of cashier to the City Bank, of Albany, of which his relative, Mr. ERASTUS CORNING, was (and is yet) the President. We understand there will be no change in the banking house here of which he was a partner. His name and the means of his family will remain with it.

Mr. CHARLES P. HARTT, for several years past Cashier of the Farmer's Bank of Troy, having been elected Cashier of the Second National Bank of this city, has entered upon the discharge of his official duties.

The earnings of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company for the month of February were:

1865	$481,164
1864	317,839
Increase	$163,325

The day's business at the office of the Assistant Treasurer was as follows: Total receipts, $751,840 25; including for Customs, $216,000; on account Loan, $21,000; payments, $1,664,496 04; balance, $28,676,147 27.

A correspondent, writing from Utica, March 8, 1865, says that both branches of the Illinois Legislature have passed a bill legalizing the consolidation of the Northwestern and Galena Railroad, and that the Governor has signed the bill.

Tierce Beef is quiet; 75 tcs. were sold, including Prime Mess, at $35; Beef Hams are quiet; sales 150 bbls., in lots, at $26@$27 ℘ bbl. Butter is inactive and heavy, at 28c.@38c. for poor to prime State, and 20c.@28c. for Western, ℘ ℔. Cheese is in request at 15c.@25c. for poor to choice, the latter price for fine factory ℘ ℔. The week's business in Butter and Cheese, Messrs. STARIN & FLOYD, in their special report for the WEEKLY TIMES, review thus:

> The depression in the Butter market noted in our last report has continued through the entire week, and concessions have been freely and fully made to the English and California shipping trade, as an inducement to take the surplus stock out of market. An earlier movement of the same kind, with much lighter concession, would have relieved the market, stimulated trade, and have caused the seasons trade in Butter to terminate very differently, but holders of Butter have held firmly for high prices until the near approach to Spring and the close of the shipping season has forced them into losses that should not have been made. A moderate quantity of fine dairies are still held in the country, and considerable quantities of ordinary grades, all of which must find a market here, and a lesson will surely be learned by speculative dairymen, that this is a hard market to manage, and that the time to sell is when parties want to buy. The depreciation in the rates of Western Butter has been greater than in State, with less demand. Heavy invoices are on the way, and buyers have but little difficulty in fixing rates. A very heavy trade has been done during the week for export and for California at about our quotations. The weekly report of the Butter market in the New-York Tribune of last week, contain the following notice:
>
> "Several failures have recently occurred among the Butter men, and more are anticipated."
> This allusion is made to the Butter trade of New-York in a paper that carries great weight among the class of farmers and dealers throughout the country who consign property to this market. Therefore, we state that the above quotation is grossly incorrect, mischievous in its tendency, and calls for prompt correction. A heavy poultry house did fail last week, and the cause is attributed to speculation in cotton goods. Another and a responsible and solvent Butter House allowed some drafts to be protested that were drawn against fraudulently duplicated invoices, and their conduct in the matter is not considered a discredit. No failures are anticipated, and no others are known, and farmers and dealers throughout the country may feel safe in continuing their shipments to their several correspondents, as there are but few houses in the trade that could not promptly cash every obligation with gold at par tomorrow. We quote:

> The stocks of Cheese on the market last week was, as reported, very light. The receipts during the week have been almost a blank, although a good fair stock now held in the country must come forward as soon as the roads and the weather will permit. A heavy trade would result if the stock was on the market, as there is an active inquiry for coastwise trade and for export. The market is quite firm at our quotations:

PROPOSALS.

FRESH BEEF AND VEGETABLES.

NAVY DEPARTMENT, BUREAU OF PROVISIONS AND CLOTHING, March 8, 1865.

Sealed proposals, indorsed "Proposals for Fresh Beef and Vegetables," will be received at this bureau until 2 o'clock P. M. on the 21st day of March, instant, for the supply of 200,000 pounds of Fresh Beef and 200,000 pounds of Fresh Vegetables, at the New-York station, as required. The beef and vegetables must be of good quality, and the best the market affords, and each article must be offered for by the pound. The beef to be in equal proportions, fore and hind quarters. Bond, with approved security, will be required in one-half the estimated amount of the contract, and twenty per cent. in addition will be withheld from the amount of each payment to be made, as collateral security for the due performance of the contract, which will on no account be paid until it is fully complied with.

Every offer must be accompanied by a written guaranty, signed by one or more responsible persons, that the bidder or bidders will, if his or their bid be accepted, enter into an obligation within five days, with good and sufficient sureties, to furnish the articles proposed.

No proposal will be considered unless accompanied by such guaranty, and by satisfactory evidence that the bidder is a regular dealer in the article proposed, and has the license required by law.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Richmond papers, of the 6th and 7th, are quite barren of news, but full of wonderful speculations and prophecies of great events about to burst into history. They acknowledge the close surveillance of the military censor, and, like sensible fellows, take it for granted that it is all for the best. Last night, however, we received some remarkable extracts from leading Richmond journals, indicating beyond mistake that the death-agony of the rebellion is now at hand. The articles will be found on another page.

By an arrival at Key West we are told that an expedition comprising all the available troops at the Key, under Gen. MORTON, aided by four gunboats, had just started to take possession of St. Mark's, one of the very few little ports now of possible access for blockade-runners. The result of the venture was not known when the steamer bringing this much about it sailed.

By the Fulton, we have news from Hilton Head to the 6th. The United States steamer Harvest Moon, Admiral DAHLGREN'S temporary flagship, was blown up by a torpedo on the 2d, while coming out of Georgetown. The Admiral escaped injury. No lives were lost. Everything is progressing smoothly in Charleston. Traders are beginning to open their stores, and the city is rapidly assuming a business aspect. Gen. JNO. P. HATCH is in command of the Northern District, Department of the South, and Gen. SCHIMMELFINIG of the defences about Charleston. On the Northeast Railroad, the cars are running as far as Goose Creek. Gen. POTTER has advanced to the Santee River without meeting opposition.

Some Union prisoners recently escaped from their captors near Wilmington, and now in Washington, give an amusing description of the manner in which they were hurried this way and that to be kept out of SHERMAN'S path after he left Columbia. The rebels were evidently quite bewildered; they wanted to make an exchange of these prisoners with Gen. FOSTER, but he was unable to achieve anything soon enough, and so the rebels were compelled to hurry the captives along toward Virginia, with no definite plan as to their location. SHERMAN is on their heels, and there is no time for deliberation.

A Cairo dispatch says that it is reported there that the court-martial in the matter of charges against Gen. PAINE, has given a verdict of acquittal on all points. One of the witnesses, whom the General had accused of swearing false testimony, endeavored to get him into a street fight, but no damage was done.

The law providing for recruiting in States in rebellion for the benefit of loyal States, is repealed by the Twenty-second section of the act, approved March 3, 1865, and the Provost Marshal General has notified the mustering officers, commandants of rendezvous and Department commanders accordingly.

The steamer Arizona, just fitted up at New-Orleans as a flagship, was destroyed by fire, thirty miles below the city, on the 27th ult. Five of the crew perished, and several of the officers lost all their effects. The Arizona was one of the finest vessels in the fleet.

The records in Col. INGRAHAM'S office show that from the 8th of February to the 8th of March, 1,776 rebel deserters have been received in Washington City from the armies operating against Richmond.

Acting Rear-Admiral THATCHER arrived at New-Orleans on the 28th ult., and assumed command of the West Gulf Squadron, vice Commodore PALMER. The latter officer will command the vessels left at New-Orleans.

Maj. HAWLEY, of the Fifty-second United States Infantry, has been assigned to the command of all the forces on the west side of the Mississippi River, from White River to Morganzia.

GENERAL NEWS.

No coal trains are now being run on the New-Jersey Central Railroad, as the engines on that road are mostly laid up for repairs. As a consequence of this, coal is selling at $13 a ton at Elizabethport, with the prospect of a still greater advance in the price among retailers, until the engines are again ready to run, which will be in about a month.

The nomination, by the Unionists, of Congressman JOHN A. J. CRESSWELL, of the First Maryland District, for Senator in place of Gov. HICKS, deceased, is regarded as a decided anti-slavery triumph. Mr. CRESSWELL is recognized no less for his loyalty than for his uncompromising hatred to the "cause of all our woe."

New Orleans papers of Feb. 26, announce the arrival at that port of the Empire City, which left this city Feb. 10, and went ashore on Elbow Key off Carysfort Reef on Feb. 16. At one time she was reported lost, but she got off and continued her voyage.

WM. T. ROGERS, formerly editor of the Jersey City Telegraph, died on Saturday, and was buried yesterday afternoon from the residence of his brother-in-law at Bergen.

The office of the Memphis Bulletin was set on fire on the 6th inst., and damaged to the extent of $20,000, mainly in the press-room. Fully insured.

Eight bodies have been recovered from the wreck of the steamer Watson, recently sunk near Napoleon, Ark. Twenty-seven persons are still missing.

Of the cotton captured at Savannah by Gen. SHERMAN, 23,580 bales have already arrived, and 11,641 are on the way, making 35,221 in all.

Hon. PELEG SPRAGUE, Judge of the United States District Court of Massachusetts, has resigned on account of failing health.

Senator HARLAN, of Iowa, was yesterday confirmed by the Senate as Secretary of the Interior, in place of Mr. USHER resigned.

The Hon. HUGH MCCULLOCH, the new Secretary of the Treasury, entered upon the duties of his office yesterday.

The steamboat Imperial was lost on the Cumberland River, on Wednesday; damage, $50,000; half insured.

THOMAS HENRY & Co.'s pork-house, at St. Joseph, Mo., was burned on Wednesday; loss, $200,000; insurance, $110,000.

The steamboat Imperial was accidentally sunk at Louisville on the 7th inst. The boat was lost, but all people on board were saved.

The Susquehanna River was reported clear of ice yesterday morning. Travel was to be immediately resumed.

The Bay State, a weekly Democratic paper at Lynn, Mass., has been suspended.

LOCAL NEWS.

The Board of Aldermen, at their meeting yesterday, directed the Comptroller to sell the lease of Pier No. 52 North River, at public auction, said Pier to be used only by the oyster trade. One hundred and thirty-eight Commissioners of Deeds were appointed for the present year. The Volunteer Family Aid Fund ordinance was laid over and the board adjourned.

Mrs. MARGARET CONNORS, for many years a resident of the Seventeenth Ward, Brooklyn, but latterly residing in the family of Mrs. JOHN BRAGRAW, Dutch Kills, Newtown, on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 26, visited some of her friends in Huron-street, Greenpoint, and left about 6 P. M. for her home. Early on Monday morning her dead body was found by a marketman, on the roadside, near where she resided. Whether murdered or not, does not appear, the investigation not being finished.

CHARLES H. MAPES, a druggist's clerk, was held yesterday, by Coroner WILDEY, for delivering opium to a messenger who had been sent to get a preparation of rhubarb. The drug was taken by a child of MICHAEL and BRIDGET MURPHY, of No. 116 Mulberry-street, and the child died.

At a meeting of ship-owners, yesterday, at the Chamber of Commerce, it was resolved to form an association for the purpose of guarding the rights of the ship and steamship owners of New-York, and protecting them from the liabilities and restrictions to which they are now exposed.

JOSEPH WIBEL, of Elmira, and A. W. NATHANS, of Williamsburgh, bounty-brokers, were sent to the Old Capitol Prison, last evening, by order of Col. BAKER, of the War Department Special Agency.

Mr. WATTS SHERMAN, of the well-known banking firm of DUNCAN, SHERMAN & Co., of this city, died in the Island of Madeira, on the 20th of February last, in the 53d year of his age.

JAMES COGAN, a lad of 13, died of hydrophobia at Bellevue Hospital, on Tuesday morning, having been bitten on the lip, on the 12th ult., by a rabid dog.

The Brooklyn City railroad companies have again petitioned the Common Council for leave to raise their fares. The petition was referred to a committee.

PATRICK DAYTON, a night-watchman, was drowned in the dock at the foot of Watts-street on Wednesday night.

The Gold Room fell off to 193¾@194 ℔ cent. yesterday afternoon. The Railway Stocks were depressed. Government Securities firm and active. Very large purchases of United States 5-20s and 6s of 1881, and the subscriptions to the 7-30 ℔ cents in this market were about two millions of dollars. At the Evening Exchange, Gold closed at 191½.

A very moderate demand prevailed yesterday for the principal kinds of produce and merchandise. Low grades of flour opened a shade higher, but closed languidly. Grain was dull and heavy. Provisions were much depressed. Whisky was quiet and down to $2 25 ℔ gallon. Middling Cotton dull at 77c.@78c. ℔ ℔. Crude Petroleum at 42½c.@43½c. ℔ gallon. Freights dull and rates lower, especially by steamer.

Pacification of the South.

There has probably been no result of the war so gratifying and reassuring to those who have been troubled with dismal forebodings as to the difficulty of pacifying the South, even after the rebels have ceased to be able to maintain large armies, as the revelation which it has made of the large vein of practicalness running through the character of the Southern people. There was probably nothing, for which, four years ago, we at the North were less disposed to give them credit. Their language as well as their acts, before and after the outbreak of the rebellion, fairly warranted the conclusion that they were a breed of crazy enthusiasts or romancers,—moonstruck theorists whose conduct was not regulated by the ordinary rules or animated by the ordinary motives. The hairbrained speculations of their political philosophers upon the nature and objects of civil society, the wild rant of their orators and newspapers about slavery, the frantic style in which their politicians were in the habit of denouncing and threatening their enemies, the reckless disregard of parliamentary convenances displayed by their Congressmen, and the Indian ferocity and contempt for consequences which marked their mode of avenging private injuries—all justified the belief that, if once roused into war, we might look for exhibitions of desperation that would throw Carthage, Thermopylæ, Saragossa, Moscow, and even the defence of Holland against LOUIS XIV., into the shade. Many people expected that their resistance would not be regulated by policy; that passion—and such passion!—would preside over it from first to last, and that even the abolition of slavery would only be accomplished through the extermination of the white race.

This was a dismal prospect, but it has completely faded in "the light of subsequent events."

If there be one thing more remarkable than another about the rebellion, it is the plain common sense, the intensely practical spirit, which has presided over the conduct of it. The extravagance, absurdity, bombast and desperation have all been in talk. In action there has been great unscrupulousness, indeed, but great prudence, careful adaptation of means to ends, great contempt for sentiment and display, and a most remarkable freedom from the influence of mere feeling. We all expected, and we were warranted in expecting, that we should capture no town, until the garrison had buried themselves in the ruins. Towns have never been more easily taken; forts have capitulated with as much readiness as if the war were a mere fight about a point of honor. Regiments, brigades and divisions have laid down their arms even more readily than usual. There has certainly been much hard fighting, because the men on both sides were brave; but the per centage of killed and wounded has, we believe, been in no case so great as in some of the battles of the Napoleonic wars, between armies which had hardly ever heard of each other till they met on the field. And latterly, the desperate spirit, the resolution "to burn everything in the invaders' track," to "die in the last ditch," is heard of nowhere but in the "African Church" in Richmond. Men refuse quarter and perish sword in hand "for wife and bride, home and altar, and unchained neck," nowhere but in the editorial articles of the Richmond Examiner.

It is fair to conclude that men who have displayed such remarkable practicalness in the conduct of the war, will display fully as much in bringing it to a close. We may safely suppose that guerrilla fighting is seen to be useless. It will come to an end, and no amount of spouting, either in the "African Church" or elsewhere, will convince anybody in the South that there is any use in it, after the Confederacy ceases to have a large organized force in the field. The army once dwindled down into a "body-guard of officials," and our word for it, we shall witness an example on the part of the people, of that adaptation of conduct to circumstances, by which the leaders have already won so much fame in carrying on the war. What guerrilla fighting is, and what its effectiveness is likely to be, the inhabitants are luckily already well aware. The operations of their own cavalry in Georgia and Tennessee have satisfied them on these points; so thoroughly, too, according to all appearances, that we have very little doubt that the pacification of disturbed districts may, in the majority of cases, be left, after the war is over, to the inhabitants themselves, without the intervention of any Federal force.

The New Revolutionary Frenzy in Richmond.

The extraordinary intelligence of the state of affairs at the rebel capital, which we get through the latest Richmond papers, indicate that the counter-revolution there has already assumed a very definite and decided character, and embraces on its side many of the leading and original rebels and fire-eaters of the Confederacy. There is a universal uproar on all hands. There is a panic at the approaching doom. The Richmond rebels appear to be so excited as to be almost unable to write coherently, There is no faith in anybody or anything. The Confederate Congress is giving way. JEFF. DAVIS and his henchmen are giving way. It would seem that even LEE is ready to consider terms. The questions which the Enquirer puts into the mouth of a correspondent, are doubtless questions put by the editor himself; and it is hard to say whether his queries or his responses are most significant. The Sentinel, which, as DAVIS' official organ, has always been so self-possessed in times of panic, is profoundly and madly moved. But let the reader observe the rebel statements and articles, and judge of the condition of the Confederacy and the state of its capital.

Another Day of Rebel Fasting and Prayer.

In accordance with a joint resolution of the rebel Congress, JEFF. DAVIS has appointed this day to be observed as one of "public fasting, humiliation and prayer, with thanksgiving to Almighty God." The rebel authorities do not seem to tire of beseeching Heaven for favor on their wicked cause, though the only answers vouchsafed are new disasters and sharper suffering. Was there ever such infatuation?

If they recognize any Supreme Power at all, it seems incredible that they should not, by this time, see that that Power is not for them, but against them, and that they should not also begin to understand why this is. Here they been fighting for four years with a valor and a fortitude seldom surpassed in human history; yet they have hardly struck a blow, that did not directly or indirectly, recoil against them; while the blows they have received have all the while been weakening them, until now they are staggering in exhaustion. They began with what they called a great victory at Fort Sumter. But that affair in its whole character—its antecedents, its circumstances, its very locality—was most marvelously calculated to electrify the North, and change its apathy into a universal blaze. The capture of Sumter did the national cause an infinite service. So did the next great "Confederate victory" at Bull Run. Sumter fired the spark, but what followed was sheet lightning—fervor without force. We sent a mob of enthusiasts "on to Richmond." They quickly came flying back, helter skelter. This filled the Northern people with shame, compelled reflection, showed that there was real work to be done and of a very terrible sort, compacted the wild ardor into a solid purpose, and then for the first time was commenced the organization of a veritable army, adequate to the national necessities. Just such a rebel victory as that at Manassas was needed by the national cause in the first stage of the war. Every loyal man now has reason to thank God for our rout at Bull run, as well as for the fall of Sumter.

The rebels, in the first half of the war, had a few victories, which gave them great elation. But we cannot recall a single one of these of any importance—unless it be that gained over BURNSIDE at Fredericksburgh—which did not, somehow, carry with it a greater injury to them than benefit. They drove us back with great loss at Chancellorsville; but it cost them the life of Stonewall JACKSON, who, for his military genius and his moral prestige, was worth an army in himself. They gained a success on the first day of Shiloh; but not without the sacrifice of ALBERT SIDNEY JOHNSTON, who was, by all odds, their foremost General in the Southwest. They inflicted upon us a severe defeat at Chickamaugua, but what came of it? The postponement of the Atlanta campaign until the year after, when a General of superior ability took it in hand, with means so augmented that the campaign extended not only to Atlanta, but to Savannah, and will only end at the rebel Capital itself. They discomfitted MCCLELLAN in Virginia; but these very discomfitures destroyed the wonderful confidence which the Northern people once had in MCCLELLAN, and cleared the way for that political defeat which crushed in the North the last remnant of organized sympathy with the rebellion.

We may say that for the first two years of the war—down, say, to that extraordinary Fourth of July week of 1862, when Vicksburgh and Gettysburgh burst, in all their glory, upon the nation—there was just success enough to keep the Northern people from sinking into hopeless discouragement, and just adversity enough to tear out old political prejudices by the roots, and bring the majority of the Northern people, as nothing else could, up to the necessity of making an end forever of the institution which had so long insulted Heaven. We got into our hands Beaufort and Newbern, Nashville and New-Orleans, to cheer us; but our utmost efforts did not open the Mississippi, nor seal up the rebel ports, nor bring Richmond into our hands, nor enable us anywhere to strike at the vitals of the rebellion. For all this, the rebels had their frequent days of thanksgiving. So far as their darling object was concerned, they might better have clothed themselves in sackcloth and ashes. It was for slavery that they became rebels. They had no aim, in turning traitors, but to found a confederacy, the corner-stone of which should be this peculiar institution. Had they been overcome in the first part of the war, the so-called, yet miscalled, conservatism of the North would have gone to their help, and made a peace with them that would have saved slavery; and the institution would still have had vitality enough in it to have recovered from its hurt, and waxed strong again. But it was not so ordered. The decisive national victories were delayed, and it was this delay, and nothing else, which sealed the fate not only of the rebellion, but of slavery from which it sprang.

When this end was assured, national successes set in and have continued with constant increase. The rebel rulers have felt themselves more and more hard pressed; and they have again and again sought to propitiate heaven by appointing days of fasting and humiliation. They try it even now when, to all appearance, it would take nothing short of a miracle to save them. Did they repent of their cause, indeed did they sincerely seek light in reference to it, this spirit of humiliation would be excellent. But when the rebel chief asks prayer that the Supreme Ruler would "graciously take our cause into His own hands," it sounds almost like blasphemy. It seems a marvel that any human being in the South should so misconstrue the lessons of Divine displeasure, as not to see, or at least suspect, that this "cause" is an unrighteousness towards which grace is impossible. THOMAS JEFFERSON is sometimes called an infidel; whether he was so or not, he had Christian discernment enough to say, relative to slavery:

> "I tremble for my country when I reflect that God is just; that his justice cannot sleep forever; that considering numbers, nature, and natural means only, a revolution of the wheel of fortune, an exchange of situations is among probable events, that it may possibly become a supernatural interference. The Almighty has no attribute which can take side with us in such a contest."

If that was so plain to a Southerner when there was not a speck in the heavens to betoken Divine displeasure, it passes comprehension that Southern men should be so blind to it, when the whole sky above them has been so long lurid with judgment. To invoke again the grace of Heaven on such a cause, at this late date, is the very climax of human madness.

JOHNSTON'S ARMY.—Our Charleston correspondent says that the army which BEAUREGARD took with him from Columbia, upon SHERMAN'S entrance into that place, numbered eight thousand men. This is the nucleus of the force which JOE JOHNSTON has in North Carolina, in SHERMAN'S front. Beside this, part of HARDEE'S refugee army from Charleston may have gotten up with JOHNSTON, wherever he may be. Then there is HOKE'S refugees from Wilmington, which, according to the great rebel policy of concentration, lately adopted, were to be sent to increase JOHNSTON'S numbers; but which, according to our latest advices, were contesting SCHOFIELD'S advance up the western side of Cape Fear River, by resolutely remaining on the eastern side of that stream. Then there are the three divisions which we have been fifty times told LEE has sent to North Carolina. Then we have been told, but do not believe it, that the remnant of HOOD'S well-flogged veterans have made an astoundingly rapid march across the broad States of Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina, and have joined their old Commander, JOHNSTON, under whom they were so frequently whipped before HOOD superseded him. As for the North Carolina and South Carolina militia, if any such there be, we do not count them at all; for it was SHERMAN'S experience in Georgia that the greater the number of rebel militia, the easier they were routed.

Gen JOHNSTON may have concocted an immense, compact and effective veteran army out of all these materials, and this army may be able to fall on SHERMAN in the "jungles" and rout him; but if so, JOHNSTON must be a genius.

THE METROPOLITAN HEALTH BILL.—We regret to notice that this bill, which had been perfected with so much care, is undergoing serious changes at the hands of the Albany legislators. One of the most important features of such a measure is the construction of the board. All our present evils arise from the necessarily inefficient organizations which are to execute the health laws, and it is from this dilemma that we are endeavoring to escape. In a word, we need an intelligent, efficient and non-partisan Central Board, so related to the Police Department as to be able to avail itself constantly of its power and its vigilant inspection, while carrying on special sanitary inspection through its own skilled agents. The bill, therefore, created a Board of Health, composed of the four Police Commissioners and of four experienced physicians, with power (1) to establish a thorough and constant sanitary inspection of the city by skilled medical men; this inspection to extend to a constant search after the causes of unhealthiness, the existence of contagious diseases and the conditions upon which they depend, and all that relates to the internal sanitary state of our dwellings, with daily suggestions to the Central Board of remedial measures; (2) to direct a constant supervision by the police force of the streets, vacant lots, courts, alleys, cesspools and everything pertaining to the external sanitary condition of the houses of the people; (3) to execute any measures deemed necessary to protect or promote the public health.

Such a sanitary system as this bill provides is recognized by every considerable city of Europe as essential to its good government. It would, we believe, fully meet the wants of our city and make New-York the cleanest and healthiest city of the world. Besides, it commends itself for its economy, for the management of this entire department would not exceed what is now paid to the Health Wardens of the City Inspector. It commends itself, also, as the joint production of the ablest legal and medical gentlemen of New-York, who, without distinction of party, have united upon this measure as that best adapted to meet the present and prospective wants of the city.

While we deprecate any change in the essential features of this bill, we are still willing to acquiesce in any radical reform which rescues from the hands of incompetent persons the great interests of public health. We call upon the present Legislature to relieve us at all hazards from our present expensive, cumbersome, and utterly useless "health" organizations.

THE MEXICAN NEWS.—We have some items of Mexican news to-day, but nothing to show that there is any material change in the situation. Some emphasis appears to be laid upon the fact that a number of emigrants had arrived from the United States, at Vera Cruz. These emigrants are represented as being the pioneers of an American Colony which, before the war closes, will include a population of 25,000 settlers. If we are to credit the reports from Vera Cruz, this emigration is largely subsidized. Those that have already arrived are furnished with money and provisions to enable them to take possession of certain lands appropriated for their special use. It is not easy to discover whence the subsidies for such a scheme of emigration as this can be drawn, in the present condition of the Imperial exchequer. Nor is it less difficult to found upon the report any theory of political advantage which can accrue to the "empire" from a large influx of American citizens, whose instincts, training and tendencies must necessarily be supposed to lean strongly toward republicanism. In the absence of any feasible theory to justify a vast scheme of subsidized colonization, we conclude that the scope of the enterprise has been magnified far beyond what the actual facts will warrant, or otherwise that the project is one of a different character from what it is represented to be.

The prominence which is given in the present batch of news to the recognition extended to the "Empire" by various European Powers, is almost amusing, especially the stress laid upon the letters addressed to the Emperor and Empress by the Queen of England. There is no news in the report as to the recognition of MAXIMILIAN'S Government by European States. And there is nothing likely to disturb the balance of opinion or of power in either hemisphere, to be gathered from the fact that the British Queen, addresses her uncle's daughter—now the Empress CHARLOTTE—as her dearest "sister." The appellation of "sister," as anyone knows, is a royal technicality; and the superlative qualification of endearment, which accompanies it in this instance, we should suppose, might be put to the account of the relationship between the two Sovereigns, without materially disturbing even the dreams of the most nervous political soothsayer.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—We give from the Richmond Whig a very vivacious and vivid account of the scenes preceding and attending the entrance of SHERMAN'S army into the Capital of South Carolina. His arrival there was utterly unexpected, and confusion and plunder on the part of the rebels reached its height. So terrible were the barbarities of WHEELER'S rebel cavalry, that even this South Carolina writer declares that either the "Yankees or old Satan himself," would be preferable. SHERMAN'S treatment of the citizens, we are told, was uniformly lenient and conciliatory. BEAUREGARD, it seems, had only a "little army." We are informed that in South Carolina and its capital, our troops march along "singing with tremendous energy Union songs." Such were some of the sights and scenes in South Carolina during the late eventful month of February.

SPEAKER COLFAX.—Hon. SCHUYLER COLFAX, Speaker of the late House of Representatives, with a large party of gentlemen and ladies, arrived here in the magnificent special car of the President of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The party left Washington at 7:30 Wednesday morning, and came by way of Harrisburgh, Allentown and Easton. Speaker COLFAX spends several days in the city before leaving for home.

Ferry Accident.

The passengers by the train from Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia, which arrived at 11 last night, were subjected to a long delay by an accident in crossing the river. The ferry-boat D. S. Gregory had just left its dock at Jersey City, when, in the dense fog, it was run into by the J. S. Darcie, going the other way, with great violence. The forward cabin of the Darcie was completely crushed, and all the forward wood-work on the Gregory was demolished. It was found also that the two boats were so closely locked together that they could not be separated, and both, therefore, drifted downward with the tide. They came almost immediately upon two schooners anchored in the stream, head up, one of which thrust her bowsprit with a tremendous crash entirely through the cabin of the Gregory, and the other just escaped a similar performance. All four then drifted together upon four or five more, but without any further damage. Signal lights were immediately shown, whistles blown and bells rung, but it was not until half-past one that any assistance could be brought. The Jersey City, belonging to the same line, then came down and took off the passengers landing them at New-York dock at 2 o'clock. No one was injured, but the two ferry boats were considerably damaged. There seemed to be nobody in effective command of either, and it was not until Mr. WOOLSEY, the Superintendent, arrived, that anything practical seemed to be done toward relieving the passengers from their awkward predicament.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, March 9.

SECRETARY M'CULLOUGH—THE COAST SURVEY.

Secretary MCCULLOUGH to-day entered upon the duties of his office, and was formally introduced to all the heads of the different bureaus. He assured the acting Superintendent of the Coast Survey that the appropriation for that branch of service should be provided, and its operations should not be suspended.

THE CHANGE IN THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

The nomination of Senator HARLAN to-day by the President as Secretary of the Interior, to take effect on the 1st of May next, caused considerable discussion in Executive session. It was maintained by a number of Senators that, inasmuch as there was no vacancy, it could not be filled. This view of the case was not sustained, and he was confirmed without reference to committee. Judge USHER'S resignation takes place on the 1st of May.

ADMIRAL PORTER'S TESTIMONY.

Admiral PORTER to-day finished his evidence before the Committee on the Conduct of the War. He gave the committee a detailed statement of the Red River Expedition. His idea was that its principal object was to secure cotton, and its failure was attributable to that. In regard to Fort Fisher, he was of the opinion that it might easily have been captured in the first instance, as the garrison numbered only three hundred and fifty persons. When the assault was made in the next attack it had upward of sixteen hundred.

WORK OF THE SENATE.

The Senate will probably not adjourn before Tuesday next, as the President desires them to remain for the purpose of confirming the nominations to fill vacancies, which have occurred during the present session.

THE DISPUTED SENATORS.

The postponement until next December of the question of the admission of Senators from Louisiana and Arkansas, has released the Senate from a very troublesome question.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, March 9.

MILITARY CONFIRMATIONS.

The Senate, in Executive session to-day, confirmed a large number of military nominations, including Brig.-Gen. RAWLINS, to be Chief of Staff to Lieut.-Gen. GRANT, and Col. JORDAN, Ninth Pennsylvania, to be Brigadier by brevet.

THE NEW DISTRICT COURT OF EASTERN NEW-YORK.

The Senate confirmed many miscellaneous nominations, among them CHARLES L. BENEDICT, to be Judge; BENJAMIN D. SILLIMAN, District Attorney; and A. F. CAMPBELL, Marshal of the new United States Court for the State of New-York, to be held in Brooklyn.

THE NEW SECRETARY.

Hon. Hugh McCullough Assumes the Office of Secretary of the Treasury—His Speech to His Subordinates.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, March 9.

The principal officers of the Treasury Department waited in a body this morning upon Hon. HUGH MCCULLOUGH, to congratulate him upon his succession to the Secretaryship. After an exchange of friendly greeting, Mr. MCCULLOUGH made the following remarks:

GENTLEMEN: It is, perhaps, well known to you that the position I hold as Secretary of the Treasury, was unsolicited and undesired by me. I have been gratified by the unexpected indorsement I have received from the people and the press, and I am profoundly grateful to the President for the honor he has conferred upon me in making me his financial minister. But I can honestly say, appreciating as I do the responsibilities of the position, that I enter upon the discharge of my new duties with unfeigned reluctance, I desire to stand well with my countrymen, and am as anxious as any one can be to merit their esteem. But I have no ambition for place. The Secretaryship of the Treasury in itself, has no charms for me. I have no desire to dispense its patronage; nor am I in the slightest degree elated by its honors. I have accepted this responsible position because there seemed to be a strong desire of the public that I should do so, and because it was tendered to me without pledges and without conditions. I have accepted it as an independent man, desiring only to maintain and strengthen the public credit and to do my duty to the nation. And although conscious of my inability to meet the public expectations, and fully aware of the difficulties to be surmounted, I am not without strong hopes of success in the great work which is before me.

I have confidence in our natural resources, and in the steady, unwavering determination of the loyal people of the country, irrespective of party, to preserve the Union, and maintain the public faith. I have confidence that the people will cheerfully furnish the money required to bring the war to a successful conclusion, and that they will be able to bear any burthens that have been or may be created in the great contest which the Government is waging for its own preservation. My hopes of a successful administration of the affairs of this department are also strengthened by the consideration that I am to have the hearty and efficient support of the upright and able men around me. If I have not been misinformed I am the third man who has been elevated from a subordinate position in the Treasury Department to be the head of it. It has so happened that as a banker, and as Comptroller of the Currency, I have been better known to the public than the heads of the other bureaus, and I was therefore preferred for this high place to men of at least equal ability, if not equal financial experience. Instead, therefore, of there being any jealousy on your part, the fact that I have been the head of a bureau will, I doubt not, secure for me a more hearty and generous support than you have ever given to my distinguished predecessors, whose well-earned and established reputations made this support less necessary to them than it will be to me. My chief aim will, of course, be to provide the means to discharge the claims upon the Treasury at the earliest day practicable, and to institute measures to bring the business of the country gradually back to the special basis, a departure from which, although for the time being a necessity, is no less damaging and demoralining to the people than expensive to the Government. But while these will be the main objects with me, I shall not be unmindful of the importance of having the current business of the department conducted with fidelity and dispatch. In all this you will give me efficient aid. You will not permit it to be truthfully said that, under the administration of one who has been of your own number, the public credit suffered for want of ability on the part of the chief of the department, or efficiency in the bureau. You will, I feel assured, enlighten me by your wisdom and knowledge, and strengthen me by increased attention to your respective duties. No effort shall be wanting on my part—I am sure that none will be wanting on yours—to make the relations between us harmonious and cordial, and to infuse new life into the business of the department. If your efforts in this direction are successful, the best results will follow to ourselves and to the country.

Commissioner LEWIS, on behalf of the Treasury officers, tendered their cordial congratulations, in an appropriate address, saying in conclusion:

"Your success will deserve the gratitude of the nation and the applause of history. If we can, in our limited sphere, do anything to promote it, we shall do it cheerfully, and with all intelligent guidance, to labor in season and out of season, for the honor of the Treasury and the welfare of the country. As men, we can do no more. As servants of the people, we ought to do no less.

Card.

A statement was made a few days since in Congress, during the debate on the tariff, to the effect that our firm was engaged in the importation of lead, as statuary or busts, in order to avoid the payment of duty on lead.

To those who know us, it would be unnecessary to deny this statement; but, as it has been extensively circulated in the reports of the proceedings of Congress, we think it proper to say, that our firm has been in existence more than a quarter of a century; that no such importation has ever been made by us; and that no member of our firm has been, either directly or indirectly, interested or engaged in any such transaction.

GROWTH AND LOSS OF THE NATION BY WAR.

The Losses of War—Loss of Men—Growth of Population—Gain of Population and Men—Increase of Wealth—Diminution of Debt—Stability of the Country.

THE BEECHES, Wednesday, March 1, 1865.

MOTLEY, in the History of the United Netherlands, has shown that Holland actually increased in strength and resources in the midst of the great war which PHILIP of Spain carried on against her. This is very contrary to the ideas commonly entertained of war, and especially of that held by croakers in this country. It is true that there are some things in war which are absolutely losses; and so there are losses in periods of profound peace, which are startling to whoever contemplates them. Look upon the great stream of the dead constantly passing to the grave! Look upon the heavy losses by fires and shipwrecks and bankruptcies! Look upon the enormous losses by the mere vices of society! The lazy, the intemperate, the gambling, who diminish the public industry and spend what thrift has acquired. Some persons seem to think that the soldiers would not have eaten bread and bacon if they had been at home, or any of them died at home. They seem to think that the nation has lost a great deal, because certain people have lent money to the Government instead of lending it to each other. Now, I think they have made the Government and the nation a great deal stronger than if they had not lent it. I hear that there are two thousand persons each day make subscriptions to the Government of $50 and $100 each. Now, many of these persons are mechanics, school-teachers and laboring men. Do you think those people won't stand by the Government? When each workingman in the country has got hold of one of the cords which bind the Government, that Government will stand forever. It is no matter whether the millionaires support it or not, if the great body of working and thinking men support it.

The growth and the losses of a country are entirely relative. That country is in a decaying condition, as was Rome in its latter days, when its losses are greater than its growth; and that country is prosperous and strengthening, no matter whether in war or peace, in which the increment of growth is greater than its losses. Such is the condition of our country now. The calculation can be easily made. There are fixed data on which we can calculate the precise losses of the war. The Commissioner of Statistics for the State of Ohio has, in his last annual report, given the actual losses of men in that State by war—based on two sets of data—one, the returns of the township assessors, who in May last ascertained the number; and another, by deduction from the returns of the army and hospital reports. The results are nearly alike, and confirm each other. The assessor found in May, 1864:

Number died in the service	16.516
Number disabled in the service	8,056

The commissioner finds the number died to December, 1864, to have been 18,500. Allowing for the difference of time, the number of Ohio soldiers died since the war will be less than 20,000 in April, four years from the commencement of the war. The number of positively disabled, as returned by the assessors, is just one-half. Thus the whole number of Ohio soldiers died and disabled during four years' war, is not over 30,000. Ohio has rather over a tenth of the population of the loyal States, and certainly has its full proportion of soldiers. The limit of the losses, both killed and disabled, of the Union army, is 300,000. I am told the Government estimate is 260,000, but let us take the largest number. Now, what is the growth of population? The natural increase of population in this country is two and a half per cent. per annum, and to this we must add whatever immigration there has been in four years. The results are these:

Loyal population in 1860	23 000,000
Natural increase (of four years)	2,300.000
Immigration of four years in round numbers	800.000
Total increase of population	3,100,000
One-fifth able-bodied men	620,000
Died and disabled in the war	300.000
Increase of able-bodied men since 1860	320,000

Thus we have gained more men than we have lost, (including all the disabled,) since 1860. There is no doubt this estimate of loss is full high enough.

The loss and gain of property will be found in nearly the same proportion, if we consider the public debt a loss—which it certainly is not. But, let it be so, and we have this result:

Property of loyal States in 1860	$12,000,000,000
(Previous increase 13 per cent.,) assessed at 10 per annum, for four years.	4,800,000,000
Deduct the whole national debt	2.300.000.000
Leaves an actual increase (1865) of.	$2,500,000,000

Now, let us suppose the people pay off this entire debt in one year, they will then be richer than they were in 1860 by $2,500,000,000. But as three-fourths of this debt will be paid to the people themselves, the nation will really be nearly as much richer as the whole increase of property. Now, does any one question the accuracy of this statement? I will put him in a way to verify it, without depending upon anybody. Let him find any State (not occupied by armies) where houses, mills, factories and steamboats are not building. Where is the town, where the merchants that don't owe less than they did in 1860? Let him consult the books of the mercantile agencies, and see whether there are as many bankruptcies as there were in 1860. No man can pass through the country without seeing that it is actually improving and increasing in wealth, and anything to the contrary can only be looked upon as a practical absurdity.

But we have a number of intelligent and very fanciful people, who are gifted with hard money theories and free trade theories, and who have as much horror of paper money as Sir PIERCIE SHAFTON (whose ancestor was a tailor) had of a bodkin. I am sorry for these persons, for they are in the condition of a man bit with a tarantula. They dance about without any reason why. They think if the country is not ruined with paper money, it ought to be. It is a most unprincipled country, if it don't conform to their doctrine; and they insist upon its going into a desperate condition. Well, it won't conform to their doctrines, nor go into any state of desperation. There is no sign, in our past or present experience, that we shall suffer much from paper money. In six months gold has gone gradually and steadily down about 50 per cent.; has it hurt anybody? Well, if in six months more, it should go down within 10 per cent. of par, will it hurt anybody? Every one should recollect that it is not the kind of money we have, but over-trading, over-importing and extravagant living, and exaggerated debt, which make commercial convulsions and mercantile failures. Money is a mere instrument of exchange, and it is no great matter what it is, provided it is convenient. The great features of business at this time are, that the people are generally out of debt, that we have a good tariff, and a national currency. With these we may defy Europe, the rebels and the powers of darkness. Fortunately it will take at least one generation to get the country back into such an hallucination that it can be practiced upon by political quacks and commercial lunatics.

OUR LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

Defences of Canada—Debate on the Irish Difficulty—Desertions in the British Army—Funeral of Cardinal Wiseman—Plays and Lectures—The Davenports Done For.

LONDON, Saturday, Feb. 25, 1865.

Gardez-vous! There has been a debate in the Lords on the defences of Canada. The Government proposes to expend £200,000 on fortifications, but as that is too large a sum to ask for at once, they will begin with fifty thousand, and it is hoped that in five or six years Quebec and Montreal will be in a defencible condition. Why they do not postpone it to the beginning of the twentieth century is more than I can tell.

It is agreed that the British Provinces soon to be united, are at present without any defence whatever. The Canadians show no disposition to defend themselves, and the Home Government is not very rapid in its operations. There is some talk of sending a fleet of gunboats for the lakes, but it will not be done if Mr. LINCOLN makes the least objection. Lord PALMERSTON, who a few years ago had the character of a bully, is now the meekest old man since Moses. Earl DERBY is disgusted and does not conceal his belief that a fight is coming which will find the Government unprepared to meet it. The amiable Earl RUSSELL took occasion to reiterate his opinion that the North is fighting for empire, in which he shows no disposition to baulk her: and there is every indication that I have made no mistake in saying that the Government and the Liberal party expect, by means, or under cover of the union of the Provinces, to get rid of Canada altogether; and the £50,000 asked for to fortify Quebec, if it ever be voted, will never be expended.

A question came up respecting the Northwestern territory and its organization as a Colonial Government, but it went over, and there are many indications that England does not expect to have much more trouble anywhere on the American continent. She has refused to interfere in Europe, and there has just been granted a royal commission to consider the question of withdrawing from the Western coast of Africa, where her settlements are declared to be pests and nuisances.

Only one thing more need be done on this side of the planet, and that is that England should withdraw from Ireland. Other wise Irishmen will withdraw, as they are doing, until none are left. There was a long debate last night on the Irish question, in which it was declared that the people of Ireland were never so disaffected as now, and it was pretty generally agreed that they had plenty of reason.

There was one point in this debate which may interest you. Free-traders in Parliament admitted that free trade was the ruin of Ireland. She could not compete with England in manufactures, and for this reason was drained of wealth and population. It is the same with all the colonies of England. Canada, Australia, and New-Zealand have been obliged to protect their own manufactures against being ruined by English competition. This is a hard fact which cannot be got over. The English Chambers of Commerce are making a row about it, but it is of no use. If Ireland had a Parliament of her own, like Canada or the Australian Colonies, its first act would be to attract capital to Ireland, and keep her people at home, by measures of protection. Now every article almost is imported, from a gold watch to a lucifer match, while the people are idle and starving. Free trade is a fine thing for England no doubt, as it is for any country with great advantages of capital, mines, and other resources, but free trade is a drain upon any country destitute of such advantages. The principle may be carried out to any extent. A farmer in America who sells his produce to clothe an idle family, would do better to go back to the spinning-wheel and domestic loom. If half the people of Ireland could be engaged in manufactures, the other half would find plenty of work on the land at good wages. Of course the political economists will prove that this is all nonsense, but a good many people are trying to see that there are two sides to the question.

The London Times gives us now and then a little story about army desertions in the Federal States, and Mr. DAVIS thinks that if the absentees from the Confederate army would only return, or the women would drive them back with their broomsticks, Gen. LEE might not be obliged to abandon Richmond. But a few nights ago Mr. O'RIELLY stated in Parliament that out of 90,000 men recruited for the British army during the Russian war, there were 20,000 deserters. Recruiting in England, with increased pay, and more attention to the comforts of the men, in a time of profound peace which Lord PALMERSTON is determined shall not be broken, is carried on with great difficulty. The position of a common soldier is looked upon as the last and lowest place to which a man can sink, short of penal servitude. The remarks of Mr. V. SCULLY, an Irish member, in this debate, may be worth reproducing entire. He made a very short speech, but you will agree that it was very much to the purpose.

Mr. V. SCULLY thought that the same advice might be given to Irishmen about to enlist in the British army, which Punch had given to persons about to marry, which was, "don't" (hear.) In his opinion no Irishman should enter the British service. The honorable gentleman had alluded to the Governor of an American State having imported negroes for the war. Let the House take care that they should have no occasion to import white negroes for the same purpose from Dublin. [A laugh.] They were at present losing by emigration 100,000 white negroes a year, and, what was worse, those negroes were deserting to the enemy. He stated these things in the interest of England. [A laugh.] He was the best friend of England who pointed out her weaknesses and the means of correcting them. He thought that no Irishman should enlist in the British service, because they did not get fair play. At the siege of Lucknow there was a gunner named BERNARD SCULLY. [a laugh,] who blew up the magazine. What was his reward? Two of his children were put into a proselytising establishment, where, being Catholics, they were brought up in what was thought to be the orthodox persuasion. [Hear.] Until there was absolute equality between English, Scotch, and Irish, no soldier would enter the British service with his whole heart and soul.

The funeral of Cardinal WISEMAN, on Thursday, was the greatest that has been seen in England since that of the Duke of WELLINGTON. That of the Duke of NORTHUMBERLAND, who has also just died, and who was, on many accounts, a very popular nobleman, was nothing in comparison. The funeral procession was ten miles long, and hundreds of thousands thronged to see it. The services were held in the Pro-Cathedral of St. Mary's, Moorfields, and was attended by nearly all the Roman Catholic Archbishops and Bishops of England and Ireland, and by many of the nobility, both Protestant and Catholic, foreign Ambassadors, &c. Monseigneur MANNING pronounced the eulogy, and the remains of the good Cardinal, for he was truly such, were buried in the Catholic division of the Kensal Green Cemetery. The change in London and England, from fifteen years ago, when Parliament passed a penal statute against him, and mobs hooted and burnt him in effigy, to the grand demonstration of popular respect and affection at the funeral of Thursday, is very great.

It is now said that before his death the Cardinal sent the names of three Bishops to Rome, from whom he wished the Pope to select his successor—the present Bishops of Southwark, Clifton and Birmingham. I doubt if the Cardinal did this unless requested, as it is not the usual method of procedure. If any present Bishop is selected, I think it will be Bishop ULLATHORN, of Birmingham; but Monseigneur MANNING is no doubt destined to a very high position, and may probably be the next English Cardinal. In the meantime, a vacant hat may be given to Archbishop CULLEN, of Dublin.

A very cold, miserable Winter is passing away at last, and the London season gives signs of vitality. English operas at both houses are a bore, but the drama flourishes even at Drury Lane.

Miss BATEMAN is still too ill of the prevailing and often fatal Winter complaint of bronchitis. This young lady is paying the penalty of success. For a year she triumphed in Leah. It was a solid success from which no envy or other enmity could shake her. So the opposition held back for a new character, and when she assumed that of Julia in the "Hunchback," they came down on her. She substituted "act" for "task" in the sacred lines of SHERIDAN KNOWLES, and she pronounced love lave, and had a Yankee whine. Finally she could not play Julia, and when an attack of bronchitis stopped her playing, they declared it was a pretence to cover her failure. Miss SIMS, a nice little girl, not much of an actress, but distressingly pretty, was erected into the idol of the opposition, and triumphs in a nightly round of applause, if she only comes on as walking gentlewoman in a farce.

Mr. SOTHERN is doing Garrick and Dundreary, and promises a new character. In my private opinion Garrick is a weak piece, and the principal part is poorly played. Mr. LESTER WALLACK ought to do it much better. It is a mistake, in spite of its apparent success. The curiosity to see Dundreary do something wise has drawn for a time, but the play and the acting have disappointed those who formed high expectations of either. The perfect Dundreary is, in my estimation, a very imperfect Garrick.

Mr. BOUCICAULT is reaping a harvest from his "Streets of London," at the Princess, and other dramas. The play at the Princess alone is said to yield him $1,000 a week.

The ill-luck of the DAVENPORT Brothers at Liverpool followed them to Huddersfield, where the gymnastic fiends prevented an exhibition, and last night, again, at Leeds, another cabinet was smashed into small pieces by a mob, because "the boys" refused to be tied according to the taste of the committee. This refusal is fatal, as the public will believe it a case of defeated jugglery, until they are able in some way to prove the contrary. It is supposed that, being near Liverpool, they will take the first steamer home and postpone their continental tour until the mysteries of the "tom-fool knot," said to have been invented by Mr. SOTHERN, expressly for their discomfiture, have been unraveled.

As the peace rumors have done their work on the London and Continental Stock Exchanges, a little war news will now be in order. We are waiting to hear from GRANT and SHERMAN.

MONADNOCK.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—To-night VERDI'S Opera, "La Forza del Destino," will be given for the last time during the present season, and, in consequence, for the last time until next Fall. The work has proved so acceptable to the public, and is now rendered in such a thorough manner, that the bare announcement of its withdrawal will suffice to fill the house to overflowing. There will be a Matinée to-morrow, (Saturday,) and subsequently (at the Brooklyn house) an evening performance of "Linda," for the benefit of Miss KELLOGG.

GRAND CONCERT.—Mlle. KATOW and Mr. JAS. M. WEHLI will give their next grand concert at Niblo's Saloon, on Monday next, assisted by other artists engaged for the occasion.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC CONCERT.—The grand combination concert announced for last evening did not take place. We were unable to learn the cause of the postponement. Is was, we presume, owing to the weather.

HARRY SANDERSON'S CONCERT.—The grand complimentary concert to Mr. HARRY SANDERSON, on Saturday next, promises to be one of the most brilliant entertainments of the season. The following artists will assist on the occasion: Jenny Van Zandt, Mrs. J. H. Barclay, Mr. George Simpson, Mr. Frank A. Chase, Mr. G. W. Morgan, Mr. Robert Heller and the beneficiare, Mr. Harrison.

OUR ALBANY CORRESPONDENCE.

The Metropolitan Health Bill—City Railroad Bills.

ALBANY, Wednesday, March 8.

The Metropolitan Health Bill was discussed in the Senate last evening. The important fact made apparent by the discussion was, that the Senate incline to favor a somewhat different organization of the Health Board from that proposed in the Health Bill. The proposition to include the Police Commissioners in the board does not meet with favor in that body. With a view to constitute a separate Health Board, Senator STRONG moved last evening to so amend the bill as to make the board consist of five instead of four commissioners, and this motion prevailed in Committee of the Whole. It is apparent that, among members of the Legislature, there has been no such discussion of the subject as to fix and render definite their views with regard to it.

The discussion of the Fire Department bills will be continued to-day before the Assembly Committee on Cities. No important facts or arguments are brought forward thus far in the discussion, in addition to those already presented before the Senate Committee. At no time since the bills have been introduced has there been the same solicitation manifested on the part of the firemen as is now manifested. It is evident that they expect to defeat the Paid Fire Department Bill by delaying action in regard to it. The same general course is pursued on both sides by the parties, for and against a radical change in the departments of the city, in regard to both the health bill and the fire bill. The decision of the question of passing these bills or defeating them depends now upon the promptness with which those act who have them in charge. They have now to compete with many important projects which are trying to gain the attention of legislators. I do not think the comparative importance of these two reformatory measures, which affect so materially the welfare of one-fourth part of the entire population of the State directly, and of the remaining three-fourths indirectly, is appreciated.

Important New-York City railroad bills continue to be introduced. Their name is legion, and their destiny,—to perish by neglect,—foreordained.

The Broadway railroad bills before the Senate Committee on Railroads, will be discussed by counsel pro and con this afternoon.

Mr. BRANDRETH, of Westchester, has succeeded in his bill to nationalize banks, through both houses. It passed the Senate to-day without amendment, only five Senators opposing.

ASSEMBLY.

ALBANY, Thursday, March 9.

Mr. REED introduced a bill to incorporate the Gymnastic Club of New-York.

The consideration of the New-York and Brooklyn Baggage Bill occupied the morning session.

Recess.

BOUNTY-BROKERS SENT TO THE OLD CAPITOL PRISON.—JOS. WIBEL, a substitute-broker, was brought hither from Elmira yesterday, accused of defrauding the Government. He was innocent, of course. Col. BAKER summoned two soldiers, and inquired whether WIBEL had seen them before. "Yes; he enlisted them at Elmira." "And have you ever seen this coat?" asked Col. BAKER, pulling off one of the soldiers' coats and exposing the attire of a civilian. These soldiers were two whom WIBEL had re-enlisted, knowing them at the time to be in the service; and the coat was one which WIBEL had given them to complete their disguise. WIBEL was sent off to the Old Capitol Prison last night. A. W. NATHANS, a bounty-broker, whose recent operations have been mainly confined to the purchase and sale of substitutes in Hoboken and Williamsburgh, was also sent to the Old Capitol Prison last night. NATHANS charged citizens $1,000 for substitutes, and paid the men about $200. Other arrests were made yesterday, and the prisoners were held, last night, at the Special Agency of the War Department.

NEW-YORK SEMI-WEEKLY TIMES.

THE NEW-YORK SEMI-WEEKLY TIMES is published THIS MORNING, and may be had at the counter of the publication office in wrappers ready for mailing. Price FIVE CENTS. In addition to the latest intelligence by telegraph up to the moment of going to press, there will be found in the current number full details of all military movements in the different departments from the pens of our special correspondents. Also, all official orders, reports and documents, and the latest and fullest Washington news. European news, with graphic letters from our correspondents in London and Paris, giving the tone of public feeling abroad, is made a special and permanent feature. In addition to Editorials on all the current topics of the day, the SEMI-WEEKLY TIMES has a page of carefully prepared commercial matter, giving the latest financial news and market reports: items of agricultural and domestic interest, compiled from sources many of which are otherwise inaccessible to the American reader: and marriages and deaths of the week.

The "SEMI-WEEKLY RECORD," or news summary—being a careful synopsis and digest of the news of the day, both rebellion and general—is alone worth double the subscription price to the paper, as it preserves in a condensed and conveniently classified form all news of interest, and must prove valuable as a record to all time.

TERMS.—One copy one year, $3: two copies one year, $5. Fresh names may at any time be added to Clubs, both of the WEEKLY and SEMI-WEEKLY, at Club rates.

The Invalid.

A POEM.

In the vein of Campbell.

Upon his bed—brought very low—
A poor dyspeptic, pale as snow,
Lay tossing feebly to and fro,
His strength departing rapidly.

But, pitying his wretched plight,
A friend dropped in that very night,
Who told him he could set him right
With an unfailing remedy.

"Cheer up," he said; "I bring you aid—
The purest tonic ever made—
The sick man's hope it ne'er betrayed;
'Twill cure you quick and cleverly."

He drew the cork—he poured the draught;
With quivering lip the patient quaffed;
It seemed vitality to waft
Through all his system instantly.

What need the wondrous charm to name
That cheered his spirits, braced his frame?
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS—known to fame—
Performed the seeming miracle.

From that same hour, each rising sun,
Beheld the good work, thus begun,
Proceed until the end was won,
And health established thoroughly.

Perry's Moth and Freckle Lotion.
Chloasma, or Mothpatch, (also called Liverspot,) and Lentigo or Freckles, are often very annoying, particularly to ladies of light complexion, for the discolored spots show more plainly on the face of a blonde than of a brunette; but they greatly mar the beauty of either; and any preparation that will effectually remove them WITHOUT INJURING THE TEXTURE OR COLOR OF THE SKIN, is certainly a desideratum. Dr. B. C. PERRY, who has made diseases of the skin a specialty, has discovered a remedy for these discolorations, which is at once prompt, infallible and harmless.

"Truth and fiction are closely blended in this tale, and in the appendix will be found the material from whence some of its incidents have been drawn. As also the narrative which has furnished its groundwork. Those who are sometimes glad to turn away for a while from the beaten roads of history, and to tread the by-ways of romance; who love truth which resembles fiction, and fiction which follows closely in the footsteps of truth, may, perhaps, find some little interest in this story of the last century."

The lands and possessions of this company are situated in the heart of the oil region of Venango County, Pennsylvania, and are, in brief, as follows:

FEE SIMPLE.

200 acres on both sides Tionesta Creek.

20 acres on both sides Stuart's Run.

Interests in a well on Smith Farm, PUMPING FORTY BARRELS PER DAY; in the new Balliete Well, FLOWING FORTY BARRELS PER DAY, AND INCREASING; in the famous Auburn Well, FLOWING SEVENTY BARRELS PER DAY; in the new Faunce Well, PUMPING FORTY BARRELS PER DAY; and in the celebrated New-Jersey Well, now FLOWING 250 PER DAY. Also, interests in FOUR WELLS NOW GOING DOWN, and the Company have commenced to sink WELLS ON THEIR OWN PROPERTY.

The incorporators design making this a permanent company, whose stock shall become an excellent investment rather than a mere means of speculation. Those among them having the largest financial interest in its affairs, will devote themselves personally to its management. Its lands and wells will be constantly and thoroughly developed. Oil, and not stock, will be made the source of its revenue.

The subscription books for a limited number of shares of the stock of this company are now open at the office of the company, and at the office of either of the above-named trustees.

The property of the Company consists of about twelve hundred acres of selected oil territory in Washington County, Ohio, distributed into fifteen tracts, all within a radius of ten miles of the City of Marietta. Three tracts, of two hundred and three acres, are located on Long Run; four tracts, of four hundred acres, on the Little Muskingum; and the other tracts are distributed upon Eight Mile Creek, Fifteen Mile Creek, Morse Run, and the west fork of Morse River, on Paw-Paw Creek, and on Whipple Run.

This property is represented by experts to be of the most promising character, oil indications abounding, especially on Long Run, where wells of other companies are now producing large supplies of heavy lubricating oil. Twelve wells are in process of boring, and machinery, tools, engines and everything necessary for the rapid development of the property are being procured.

The entire purchase-money having been paid, the company is now in full possession of the property.

A limited number only of the 100,000 reserved shares may be obtained at the subscription price of $1, being full paid stock without further assessment, at the office of SATTERTHWAITE BROTHERS, No. 61 William-st. S. C. HILLS, No. 12 Platt-st., and RICHARDS KINGSLAND, No. 38 Pine-st.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT ALL the subscribers to the capital stock of the New-York, Philadelphia and Baltimore Consolidation, Petroleum and Mining Company, up to March 1, 1865, at $1 per share, will please forward the amounts of their subscriptions to this office, No. 71 Broadway, New-York, before the 24th of March, 1865, and receive their scrip, as the company will not be held liable nor issue any scrip at the original price after that date.

This company is organized under the laws of the State of New-York, with a capital of $500,000, divided into 50,000 shares, par value and subscription price $10 each.

DESCRIPTION.

The property of this company has been selected with great care, and is located in the most productive oil districts of Pennsylvania. It is designed to make this company a safe and sure paying investment, and an ample fund has been reserved for developing the land.

Shareholders are exempt from all personal liability.

The present receipts are sufficient to pay regular monthly dividends, and with the wells in progress, and those to be put down, promise large results at an early day.

PROPERTIES OF THE COMPANY.

LOT 1.

Fee simple of 106 acres, known as the Gordon Farm on Big Hickory Creek, lying on both sides of the creek, with nearly 40 acres of flat boring bottom. This is one of the finest locations on the whole creek, some three miles above the mouth, and near many wells in progress. The company will develop this land as soon as Spring opens.

LOT 2.

Lease of 20 years of one-half the oil on the tract known as the Wood's Saw-mill Flat, on Pit Hole Creek, embracing 27 leases, which are all flat bottom boring; land has been sold here at $10,000 per acre, and two wells are now partly down, just over the line, with flattering prospects. The company will develop this as soon as Spring may open.

LOT 3.

Lease of 20 years of one-half the oil of 45 leases on the Blanck Farm, on Pit Hole Creek, just above the great United States Well, now flowing 240 barrels per day. Wells will be put down at once by this company.

LOT 4.

Lease of 12 acres of the Barrett Farm, on Pit Hole Creek, all flat boring land, situated above the new well just struck by the United States Company. No better selection can be found on the whole creek for oil purposes.

LOT 5.

Lease of 14 years of one-half the oil of lease No. 34, Heydrick Farm, Henry Bend, Alleghany River, near the great Heydrick Well, which has turned out over 54,000 barrels, now pumping over 60 barrels daily.

LOT 6.

Lease of 14 years of one-half the oil in lease No. 40, same farm, on which a well is in progress, to be delivered in complete working order, with new engine, without expense to this company.

LOT 7.

Lease of 14 year of one-half the oil in lease No. 11, Henry Farm, on Pit Hole Run, a short distance from the Heydrick Well. A well is now in progress, to be delivered in complete order to this company free of expense.

LOT 8.

Lease of 14 years of one-half the oil in lease No. 20, same farm as above.

LOT 9.

One-sixteenth interest in the "Coquette" Well, on Oil Creek, now flowing by measurement lately taken 840 barrels per day, producing to this company 26 barrels daily.

Books of subscription for a limited number of shares are now open at NO. 27 WALL-ST., ROOM NO. 4, also at the offices of the trustees.

THE OLD DOMINION PETROLEUM COMPANY,

Organized under the Laws of the State of New-York.

CAPITAL..$500,000

DIVIDED INTO 50,000 SHARES.

PAR VALUE, $10.

$20,000 RESERVED AS A CASH WORKING CAPITAL.

The lands of this company comprise 200 acres in fee, selected with care from the very best oil lands in Pleasant County, West Virginia, and lie within about 150 rods of the "famous wells" of Horse Neck and Rawson's Run, and about 3½ miles from the Ohio River. Many fine wells have recently been opened in close proximity to this property, producing from 50 to 100 barrels per day. A telegram just received reports another flowing well of 100 barrels near by. One well commenced by the superintendent lies in a direct line between two good wells just opened, not far distant.

Within a radius of three-fourths of a mile there are 20 producing wells, and more than that number in progress.

Not a failure has yet been met with in this locality, every well being a success.

This land has a large amount of boring territory—enough for several hundred wells.

Prospectus, with map, can be had at the office of the company.

A competent superintendent is on the ground, and will push forward the work with the least possible delay.

Shareholders are exempt from all personal responsibility.

The property has been carefully selected by merchants, and placed before the public, not for the purpose of making money out of selling the stock, but for the development of their lands, which are acknowledged to be among the best in the oil region. Their two farms on Pit-hole, in fee simple, are considered very fine boring territory, and on which they are to commence work at once.

Their producing property consists of an interest in the celebrated Coquette Well, the largest flowing well in existence; and will guarantee prompt dividends from date of the organization.

The trustees have reserved for working capital, $50,000.

THE BOOKS OF SUBSCRIPTION WILL CLOSE ON THE 21D OF MARCH.

SECOND GREAT WELL
Just struck on Pithole Creek.
ONE HUNDRED BARRELS PER DAY.

This new well now indisputably proves Pithole Creek to be second to none as a great oil producing region.

The DE KALB COMPANY OWN 120 ACRES IN FEE, almost adjoining this new great well, and applications are now being considered for leasing out a tract of three acres on very advantageous terms, and the company has now one engine at Funkville, on Oil Creek, which will be sent to Pithole Creek, and a new well sunk with great dispatch. Three more wells going down as rapidly as the weather will allow.

SCHEDULE OF PROPERTY.

FIFTY ACRES, fee simple, considered good oil producing territory. This farm is near the fee simple property of the Clifton and Fountain Petroleum Companies.

ONE-FOURTH OF THE WORKING INTEREST (equal to one-eighth of the oil) in the new and increasing "Baker Well" on Cherry Run. This interest is now producing four thousand dollars per month to this Company, or nine per cent per quarter upon the issued capital of one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars. The FIRST QUARTERLY DIVIDEND will be due April 1.

ONE-SIXTEENTH working interest (or one thirty-second of all the oil) in two leases on Cherry Run, upon which four wells are being sunk. These four wells to be drilled, tubed, and tested without any cost to this Company. All wells yet sunk on Cherry Run have been good producing wells.

THREE-FOURTHS of working interest (or three-eighths of the oil) of "Sims one half lease" on Corn Planter Farm. There is one well on this lease not now producing, with vat, house &c.

ONE-EIGHTH of working interest (one-sixteenth of the oil) in a lease of one-fourth acre, on the Story farm. One well down five hundred feet, and one well partly down. Engine, tubing, &c., complete.

5,000 SHARES ONLY, FOR SALE AT THE OFFICE OF WAGSTAFF & GOETCHIUS, No. 71 Broadway, Room No. 29.

The property, embracing upward of 635 acres in different locations, has been selected with great care during the last three years by those of the directors who have been constantly operating on Oil Creek, and throughout the entire oil region of Pennsylvania, as well as Western Virginia, and was not selected to sell, but for the purpose of development and producing oil, having now some ten wells under contract, and being bored with vigor, beside those already completed and producing, making in all thirteen wells already on the property.

Every acre of the company's property is bottom and the best of boring land, much of it on Oil Creek, Cherry Run, Cherry Tree Run, Alleghany River, opposite Horse Creek, Sugar Creek, Elk Creek, and other streams where the lands are being rapidly developed with the most encouraging prospects.

The trustees feel confident they will be able to declare and continue handsome dividends shortly after the books close.

Prospectus, maps, and every information can be obtained at WISHART & CO.'S PETROLEUM EXCHANGE, No. 71 Broadway, New-York.

THE POTTER COUNTY FOREST IMPROVEMENT COMPANY.

CAPITAL, $200,000.

2,000 SHARES AT $100 EACH.

The Company owns in fee simple 25,000 acres of valuable timber-land in Potter County, Penn., situated on Cross Fork and Kettle Creek, both good rafting-streams. A steam saw-mill is nearly completed, and a large annual revenue will be derived from the sale of lumber for a long period of years.

The land is well adapted for agricultural purposes, and only 21 miles from the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad.

Beside there are on the lands several veins of bituminous coal, and last, though not least, a geological examination made by Messrs. Adelberg and Raymond, has proved that the OILBEARING ROCK UNDERLIES THE LAND.

The Company having heretofore disposed of 1,200 shares, now offer for sale 300 more shares, to be used as working capital, which may be had at the office of MESSRS. HALLGARTEN & HERZFELD, No. 29 Broad-st., N. Y.

The object of the trustees is to render the company a great public benefit, by dividing its advantages among a large number of individuals.

They have bought and paid for a celebrated colliery in Schuylkill County, Penn., with the engines, machinery, breakers, shops, miners' houses, tools, cars, rail tracks, saw-mills and other personal property, and have denominated it the PEOPLE'S MUTUAL COLLIERY.

Shareholders in the company will be entitled to one ton of coal annually at actual cost, for each share of stock held by them.

The surplus coal produced from the mines, after supplying the stockholders, will be sold at market rates, and the profits divided among the stockholders in semi-annual cash dividends.

Those who do not desire to receive the coal they may be entitled to, can, upon application to the company, have such coal sold for their particular benefit, and the profits thereon paid to them in addition to the regular semi-annual cash dividends. The coal will be delivered in the cities of New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City, Albany, Troy and other places on the lines of rivers and railroads, at the actual cost of mining, transportation and delivery.

LARGE CONSUMERS SUPPLIED BY THE CARGO.

Coal, at the present price, is one of the most expensive of necessaries, and the mutual system offers the only protection against the several profits charged between the mine and the consumer.

Let consumers unite and own their own Colliery.

To carry this idea into practical operation, the PEOPLE'S MUTUAL COAL COMPANY invites your subscriptions.

The Subscription Books are now open at the following places, viz.: At the Company's Office (new Marble Building,) No. 157 Broadway, first floor; WELLINGTON & COX, No. 74 Broad-st.; J. S. & W. BROWN, No. 52 Water-st.; CARR & BLANCHARD, No. 141 Front-st.; McKILLOP & SPRAGUE, No. 35 Park Row and No. 135 Nassau-st., W. H. SACKETT, No. 49 State-st., Albany; Messrs. MEDICAL.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by DR. WARD & CO., No. 62 Franklin-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any other can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 61 Franklin-st. Call, send, or write.

CAUTION.—CHLORODYNE—IN CHANCERY.—It was clearly proved before Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood, by affidavits from eminent hospital physicians in London, that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's.—See Times, Jan. 12, 1864. The public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE, which is affirmed by medical testimonials to be the most efficacious medicine ever discovered for Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spasms, Rheumatism, &c. No home should be without it. J. T. DAVENPORT, No. 33 Great Russell-st., London, sole manufacturer. Observe particularly, none genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Stamp. Agent, New-York, Mr. JAMES ASPINWALL, William-st.

MANHOOD AND THE VIGOR OF YOUTH regained in three days by Dr. POWERS' ESSENCE OF LIFE. This wonderful agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitutions, radically curing Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Nervousness, Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from self-abuse, &c. The time required to cure the most inveterate case is one week. Failure is impossible. This life-restoring remedy should be taken by all about to marry, as its effects are permanent. Young man, are you subject to that soul and body destroying disease, secret habits? Dr. POWERS' Invigorating Essence is a never-failing cure. Sold by WALTER POWERS, M. D., No. 61 Franklin-st., between Broadway and Elm-st., New-York.

MEDICAL AND SURGICAL CONSULTATIONS.—Dr. R. COBBETT can be consulted with the most honorable confidence on private diseases at his conveniently-arranged suite of office, No. 20 Centre-st., between Chambers and Reade sts., having a private entrance at No. 6 City Hall-place. From Dr. C. being one of the oldest, and probably the only qualified physician and surgeon in this City who makes diseases of the genitourinary organs a specialty, he is thus enabled to guarantee speedy and permanent cures, or make no charge. Strictures of the urethra, seminal weakness nervous and general debility treated on the most scientific principles. N. B.—See Dr. C.'s diploma, in his office, as member of the New-York University Medical College, and College of Surgeons, London. Office hours, 9 A. M. to 8½ P. M.

DR. COOPER, NO. 14 DUANE-ST., MAY BE confidently consulted on all diseases of a private nature. A practice of 30 years, devoted to the treatment and cure of Syphilitic, Mercurial and diseases of a delicate nature, enables Dr. C. to make speedy and permanent cures, no matter of how long standing the case may be. Strictures of the urethra and seminal weakness, brought on by a secret habit, effectually cured. The victims of misplaced confidence, who have been misled by quack advertisements, can call on Dr. C. with the certainty of being radically cured or no charge made.

ADVICE TO MARRIED LADIES, who require a safe and certain remedy for removing obstructions, from whatever cause. Can rely upon the celebrated INFALLIBLE FRENCH FEMALE MONTHLY PILLS, No. 1, price $1 a box, to restore the monthly sickness in forty-eight hours, if of short standing; but obstinate cases, of long standing, may require No. 2, which are four degrees stronger than No. 1, and can never fail, are safe and healthy, price $5 a box. Sold at No. 127½ Liberty-st., and 162 Chambers-st., or sent by mail, with full instructions: address Box 2,350 N. Y. P. O.

DR. POWERS' PERIODICAL DROPS are designed for both married and single ladies, and are the very best thing known for the purpose, as they will bring on the monthly sickness in case of obstruction from any cause, and after all other remedies of the kind have been tried in vain. Expressly for obstinate cases. Warranted as represented in every respect, or the price will be refunded. ☞ Beware of imitations! Purchased directly of Dr. POWERS, 61 Franklin-st., N. Y.

IMPORTANT TO THE MARRIED.—DR. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, informs ladies that "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is for every lady, but more particularly intended for those whose health or circumstances forbid a too rapid increase of family. Price $1. Sold at his office, No. 129 Liberty-st., and No. 1 Vesey-st.

THOUSANDS ARE RUINED BEYOND REDEMPTION in this life by not calling on Dr. HUNTER sooner or later. He can cure the worst cases of secret disease in a shorter time than any other physician, or no pay taken. Skeptics and doubters will please call and read lots of reliable certificates of cures made within the last thirty years of almost hopeless cases, that had had the benefit of dozens of our most eminent physicians and surgeons. Dr. Hunter is in constant attendance from 8 in the morning till 9 at night, at his old office, No. 3 Division-st., New-York City, since 1834. Charges moderate and a cure guaranteed. Separate rooms, so that the patient sees no one but the Doctor himself. His wonderful medical discovery, DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures private diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, and possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless his remedy is used. This is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. $2 per vial. Book, 50 pages, gratis.

ANNA E. DICKINSON
ON
"THE WORK AND WAGES OF WOMEN,"
at Cooper Institute, FRIDAY EVENING, March 10.
This will be a good opportunity for those who do not like Miss Dickinson's politics to hear her upon a theme having no partisan bearings. Of this lecture, after its recent delivery in Brooklyn, the World said: "It was a noble, earnest and eloquent plea in behalf of labor for women." The Independent said: "We envy not the temper of mind of any man or woman in that audience who was not touched, quickened and bettered by that womanly appeal in behalf of woman's work and pay."
Tickets for reserved seats, (reserved only till 8 o'clock,) 50 cents; for other seats, 25 cents. For sale (till 5 P. MUSICAL.

CHICKERING & SONS
MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES, No. 652 BROADWAY.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.
Mr. GOTTSCHALK's constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.
Messrs. CHICKERING & SONS are Sole Agents for the celebrated Alexandre Organs for the United States.

STEINWAY & SON
GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.
The principal reason why the Steinway Pianos are superior to all others is, that the firm is composed of five practical piano-forte makers, (father and four sons,) who invent all their own improvements, and under whose personal supervision every part of the instrument is manufactured. Warerooms Nos. 71 and 73 East 14th-st., between Union-square and Irving-place, New-York.

THE WEBER PIANO-FORTE
Is admitted the best Piano-forte made, because the maker, besides being a practical mechanic of long experience, is also a thorough musician, thus combining advantages possessed by no other manufacturer in the United States. Such is the testimony of S. B. Mills, Robert Heller, Geo. F. Bristow, Wm. Mason, C. Jerome Hopkins, Charles Fradel, Max Maretzek, Carl Anschutz, John Zundle, Maurice Strakosch, Giovani Sconcia, Edward and Henry Mollenhauer, Louis Schreiber, Emil and Fred Brandeis, W. R. Bassford, Theo. Moelling, and every good musician in the United States. Warerooms No. 155 West Broadway, near Canal-st.

ESTABLISHED IN 1829.
RAVEN & BACON, Piano Manufacturers, No. 135 Grand-st., near Broadway, New-York. Our pianos have been favorably known in this market for nearly forty years, and by the constant introduction of improvements they are kept up to the age in every respect. Purchasers will do well to examine our instruments and prices before making their selections. Descriptive circulars sent by mail. Storage for Pianos.

CUMMINGS & JENNYS,
manufacturers of Grand and Square Piano-fortes, No. 726 Broadway, New-York. These superior instruments are now offered to the public at greatly reduced prices. Each instrument warranted for five years. Four second-hand pianos for sale at bargains.

MASON & HAMLIN'S CABINET ORGANS.—THIRTY GOLD OR SILVER MEDALS, or other first premiums, have been awarded to us within a few years for THE BEST instruments of this class. Over two hundred of the most distinguished musicians of New-York and other principal cities declare that the instruments of our make excel all others. See particulars in circulars. Salesrooms, No. 7 Mercer-st., New-York. In March, will remove to No. 596 Broadway.)

The steamer Rio Grande, for Matamoras, was due at Havana (sailed hence 2d.)

Quite a large number of blockade-runners were in port. Many of them had arrived in distress.

The news of the surrender of Charleston had reached Havana previous to the arrival of the Eagle, having been brought by a blockade-runner from Nassau.

The news of the fall of Wilmington had reached Havana, and caused considerable excitement.

It was reported that at least seventy-five persons had been murdered in Havana during the late carnival.

An opera troupe had arrived from Mexico. They would give a few performances at the Tacon previous to leaving for New-York.

The health of Havana was good. The weather is quite warm. Business is improving owing to the late favorable news from the North.

OUR HAVANA CORRESPONDENCE.

Havana, Saturday, March 4, 1865.

The Spanish mail steamer Barcelona, which arrived here a few days ago from Vera Cruz, brings news from Mexico City to the 18th ult., and from Vera Cruz to the 21st.

The news brought by the French war steamer Finisterre, that Oajaca had been taken by the Imperialists, has been confirmed by the arrival of the Barcelona, but the report that the Republican Gen. Porfirio Diaz, had been shot by the conquerors, requires further confirmation.

The following is the account of the capture brought by the Finisterre, which arrived here last week with 500 invalid French soldiers on their way home:

Oajaca, defended by a garrison of 7,000 men, surrendered unconditionally to Gen. Bazaine, on the 9th ult. Diaz, the Juarist General, tried to escape, disguised as a mule driver, but was recognized, seized, and shot immediately. As soon as the capitulation was known to the citizens and the inhabitants of the surrounding districts, they went out to meet the French General, and gave in their act of adhesion to the Imperial Government, "manifesting at the same time," says the account, "the greatest gratitude to the brave Imperial troops who had just liberated them from the dreadful tyranny by which they were oppressed."

The account of the capture of Oajaca, brought by the Barcelona, does not mention the above details of the execution of Diaz, but it is merely confined to a laconic dispatch from Gen. Bazaine to the Imperial Government, mentioning the capture of the city, and that Diaz had surrendered with the garrison at discretion. The General's dispatch is as follows:

To the Emperor:

"Oajaca capitulated this night. Porfirio Diaz and the garrison have surrendered at discretion. All the armament remains in our possession. I have the honor of offering my felicitations to your Majesty."

The English mail steamer from Vera Cruz, which will be due at the beginning of next week, will, no doubt, bring a more circumstantial account, and it is to be hoped that the Imperial arms have not been sullied by so foul an action.

It is considered by the partisans of the empire that by the taking of Oajaca and the loss that has incurred to Juarez's party by the defeat of Diaz's army, on which their hopes principally rested, the States of Chiapa and Tabasco will soon acknowledge the empire, to be followed by that of all the leeward coast which is at present under control of the Juarist chieftain, Diaz.

As a counterpoise to the above, the Imperial troops have suffered two serious reverses, the particulars of which are not given.

From Sinaloa, and more particularly from Mazatlan, the latest accounts received are to the 15th of January. Up to the 8th of the same month, the last-named place was closely besieged by the guerrilla force under Gen. Corona. Gen. Castagny's French troops, who had come from Durango, had to force a way through a difficult pass, called "The Devil's Backbone," (Espinazo del Diabolo,) defeating the enemy and getting possession of the tremendous mountain crests, the Juarists having a large number killed, wounded and taken prisoners, which latter were immediately shot. The Imperialists were not, however, able to prevent the loss of a train of 200 mules, belonging to some mule owners of Durango, who had come with the troops in the expectation of taking their mules to Sinaloa. The guerrillas, taking advantage of the nature of the ground, which was covered with woods, kept firing on the French until they had arrived at the outskirts of Mazatlan. A detachment of one hundred men left at Veranos, was surprised and defeated by superior forces of the Republicans, and in the fight, or in that at "The Devil's Backbone," (Espinazo del Diabolo,) the Count De Montarby, Commander of the Chasseurs d'Afrique, was killed. His body was taken to Mazatlan by Gen. Castagny, who arrived there on the 15th with his escort, and on the following day sent out various sections of troops in pursuit of the Republicans.

It is said that a number of Franco-Mexican troops, not less than 7,000 men, were to be shortly collected in the States of Sinaloa and Sonora, and that Lower California was awaiting the tide of events in order to make a declaration in favor of the empire.

Later accounts from Mazatlan up to the 17th, brought by the Barcelona, state that public confidence was completely restored, the situation of Sinaloa better, and that the Imperial forces, instead of being reduced to defend themselves, had taken the offensive against the enemy. In Mazatlan and its neighborhood there were 3,000 French from Durango, 1,700 of them, under the command of Gen. Castagny, were to go to Sonora, and the remainder, 1,300, under the command of Col. Gamier, were to be employed in the pacification of Sinaloa. In addition to the above there was also the French force which was already at Mazatlan, and 1,200 marines of the fleet.

On the other hand, the French expeditionary forces have obtained in the direction of Zitacuaro a complete victory over the bands of Romero and Castillo, the terror of the towns and estates in the above-named districts. It appears it was only by means of the stratagem of making their enemies suppose that they had taken a different route, that the French succeeded in coming to close quarters. The defeat of the Republicans took place at Tusantla, and it is added that both of the leaders have been taken prisoners. Castillo, together with the other prisoners, was shot, while Romero, who was seriously wounded, remained in custody of the victors.

According to another account, however, it is not certain whether Castillo was even at the fight, or if so, whether he had not succeeded in making his escape. Romero had concealed himself among the branches of a tamarind tree, and was shortly after discovered by a soldier of the French Eighty-first regiment, who was pursuing a fowl that had taken refuge in the same tree. He and the other prisoners were taken to Toluca.

Col. Larrumbide's column, commanded by Col. Gaton, surprised and routed on the 18th of January, in the direction of New-Leon, the guerrillas under Mendez, at a place called Barrental, killing nine and taking six prisoners, as well as several hundred horses, muskets, lances, powder, &c., and the officers' baggage, besides collecting in the passes of the mountains occupied by the guerrillas, from 800 to 1,000 dollars.

The Juarist Chieftain, Rojas, according to the Imperial accounts, is also said to have been defeated. A counter-guerrilla corps, commanded by Mr. Barthelin, and accompanied by 50 horsemen of the Tooar Brigade, under the orders of Capt. Miranda, surprised and routed Rojas at Potrerillos, on the 20th of January, the latter having 300 foot and 500 horse. Rojas was killed in the fight, as were also 60 of his soldiers, the Imperialists, collecting as booty one flag, a piece of artillery, 22 ammunition chests, 400 horses, with their furniture, besides 100 mules, likewise caparisoned, 300 muskets, 200 lances, 700 dollars, 500 uniforms, and all the baggage of the officers. The conquerors afterward continued in pursuit of the fugitives. Rojas, says the French account, was the terror of Jalisco, and of the towns on the frontier of Zacatecas, Aguascalientes, and other States. Thus the innumerable victims of Rojas' rapacity and cruelty, many of whom live in misery, and mutilated, have been avenged.

M. Bonnefonds, the French Inspector-General of Finance, accompanied by his Secretary, M. Huard, arrived at Vera Cruz on the 14th ultimo, in the steamer Louisiana, and intended to proceed immediately to the capital, where he would take the office of Señor Costa in the organization of the Treasury. The Louisiana brought out likewise 142 men of the Foreign Legion, 185 privates and six officers of the Belgian Legion, and 11 Austrian soldiers. Total 344.

On the 9th ult., Mr. Scarlett was received at public audience by the Emperor as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary from England. The Imperial carriage took the new Ambassador to the palace and conveyed him back to his abode after the reception was over.

The beginning of this week, namely, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, were observed with the usual festivities of the Carnival, which were, however, disgraced by an infinity of cases of stabbing, and even of assassination. The political Governor of the city issued an order on the second day, forbidding any person on foot to appear in the public streets masked, and enjoined the police to take into custody any person so infringing. This order, however, was entirely disregarded, and the Carnival of this year in Havana has been disgraced by many acts of outrageous and extraordinary violence. LARA.

GREAT BRITAIN AND MEXICO.

LETTER FROM HER BRITANNIC MAJESTY TO HIS MAJESTY THE EMPEROR OF MEXICO.

My Brother: Desirous of giving your Imperial Majesty an immediate proof of my sincere friendship, and of my lively wishes to maintain the most friendly relations between Great Britain and the empire to whose sovereignty your Imperial Majesty has been called, I have determined to accredit near you the Honorable Peter Campbell Scarlett, member of my most honorable order of the Bath, with the character of my Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary. From the long experience that I have of the ability of Mr. Scarlett, and his zeal in my service, I am persuaded that he will fulfil the important duties of his mission so as to obtain the esteem and confidence of your Imperial Majesty, and justify the choice which I have made of him to reside at your court. I beseech you to place entire credit in all that Mr. Scarlett communicates to you in my name; above all, when in placing this letter in the hands of your Imperial Majesty, I assure you of my unvaried esteem, and the highest consideration with which I am, my brother, your Imperial Majesty's good sister, VICTORIA R.

Windsor Castle, Nov. 9, 1864.

To my good brother, the Emperor of Mexico.

LETTER OF H. B. M. TO THE EMPRESS CHARLOTTE.

My Sister and Dear Cousin: Having chosen the Hon. Peter Campbell Scarlett, member of my most honorable order of the Bath, to reside at the Court of the Emperor, your Imperial Majesty's august spouse, with the character of my Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary, I have charged him to deliver this letter to your Imperial Majesty and transmit to you the assurance of my sincerest friendship and esteem. I flatter myself in believing that your Imperial Majesty will receive favorably Mr. Scarlett, and give entire credit to all that he may say to you in my name, particularly when he expresses the sentiments of unchangeable affection and consideration with which I am, my Sister and dear Cousin, your Imperial Majesty's affectionate Sister and Cousin,

VICTORIA R.

Windsor Castle, Nov. 9, 1864.

To my good Sister and dear Cousin, the Empress of Mexico.

REPLY OF H. B. M. TO THE LETTER ADDRESSED TO HER BY HIS MAJESTY THE EMPEROR.

My Brother: I have received from the hands of Don Francisco Arrangoiz the letter that your Imperial Majesty addressed to me on the 27th of June last, informing me that, after having accepted in Europe the crown that the great majority of the Mexican people offered to you, your Imperial Majesty had taken possession of the throne on the 12th of this month, as Emperor of Mexico, before the authorities of the Capital and the Commissioners of the Departments. Your Imperial Majesty cannot doubt the interest that this important event inspires me with. Deeply interested in the tranquility and welfare of Mexico, I trust that the establishment of the Empire will be the beginning of a new era of order and prosperity for that country, and your Imperial Majesty may be sure that I will endeavor to improve and increase the relations between Great Britain and the Empire, which Divine Providence has placed under your authority. I avail myself with pleasure of this occasion to manifest to your Imperial Majesty my lively wishes for your personal happiness and for the long duration and glory of your kingdom, as well as the sentiments of sincere friendship and cordial esteem with which I am, brother, your Imperial Majesty's good sister,

VICTORIA R.

Windsor Castle, Nov. 10, 1864.

To my good brother, the Emperor of Mexico.

Annual Commencement of the Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Hoppin, Jr., Rhode Island; David P. Jackson, Broome Co., New-York; Parley H. Johnson, Jefferson Co., New-York; Edgar R. Kelley, Nova Scotia; Daniel W. Kissam, Kings Co., New-York; James F. Laughlin, Nova Scotia; John B. Learned, Vermont; J. Lawrence Lee, New-York City; Wm. A. Lockwood, Connecticut; Thomas W. Lowerie, Jr., New-Jersey; John C. Minor, Connecticut; Alfred Mitchell, Maine; Lawrence O. Morgan, New-Jersey; Henry E. Ogden, Delaware County, New-York; Martin L. Overton, Jefferson County, New-York; Benjamin M. Page, Connecticut; James L. Phillips, Indiana; Henry G. Piffard, Livingston County, New-York; John A. Purcey, Nova Scotia; Charles S. Robert and Stephen W. Roof, New-York City; Eli D. Sargent, Vermont; P. Lawrence Schenck, and Theo. Schenck, Kings County, N. Y.; Edwin C. Seguin, New-York City; E. Herman Smith, New-York City; H. Lyle Smith, Columbia Co., N. Y.; James W. Smith, Pennsylvania; Albert L. W. Stephenson, Green Co., N. Y.; W. George Stevenson, Washington Co., N. Y.; Jay S. Stone, Connecticut; David L. Stricklin, New-Jersey; James B. Tweedle, Pennsylvania; Nelson S. Westcott, New-York City; Alvird E. Winchell, Connecticut; Russel Withers, Nova Scotia.

Rev. Dr. Barnard, President of Columbia College, made an eloquent address to the graduates. He said that the liberal arts depended upon the cultivation of the mental and not the physical powers, and it was necessary that the medical man, to become a successful practitioner, must cultivate his mental faculties. He has to study the structure of the human frame, and the several functions which the various organs are to fulfill. The study of the natural causes of disease also opens a wide field for his research. He must, also, understand the science of botany, climatology and meterology. The physician should understand psychological disease, so as to be able to minister to the mind diseased.

The science of medicine has done much to abate the virulence of pestilences, and has increased the mean average of life. The greatest blessing it has conferred on the human race, however, has been in teaching men the laws of health. Correct habits are much safer than drugs. The speaker said that much had been done by the demand for sanitary precautions, by the medical profession, reducing the average mortality to that of sparser populations. If greater benefits have not been derived by the public, it was not the fault of the profession, but rather of an inefficient municipal Government, which fails to perform its duties. President Barnard spoke of the duty of fidelity, study, and self-denial, on the part of the graduates. In parting with the class, he could not but wish them success and happiness. There were those, he doubted not, who were eager to go to the battle field, where the flower of our youth have already gone, to labor for the soldiers who are facing a defiant but almost exhausted foe. He believed that the surgeon deserved as much credit as the soldier who fights our battles. He trusted the day of final victory was close at hand, and that, in his wrath, God will at length remember mercy. Within the last three months the sky has brightened, and victory has followed victory until the flag of victory waves over Fort Sumter, and the conspirators quake in their trenches at Richmond, while their last line of retreat is threatened by the Union arms. When the conflict is closed, freedom will be proclaimed throughout the land and to all the inhabitants thereof.

Prof. Jas. M. Smith presented a prize of $50 to Thomas Haigh, and one of $25 to Edward Constant Seguin. Honorable mention was also made of E. Herman Smith, Wm. A. Lockwood, and Edward D. Griffin.

The Harsen prize of one hundred and fifty dollars for the best written report of clinical instruction in the New-York Hospital, was awarded to Gerardus H. Wyncoop, of New-York City.

Dr. Timothy Bigelow, a member of the graduating class, delivered an interesting valedictory address, when the audience was dismissed with the benediction.

The Preservation of our Iron Ships.

The Liverpool Shipping Gazette, says:

"In proof of the anti-corrosive and anti-fouling properties of the Gisborne paint, we are in a position to speak from actual observation, for we yesterday inspected the African Steamship Company's steamer Macgregor Laird, in the Sandon Dock, the one side of the bottom of which had been coated with the Gisborne paint as a trial against another patent paint, when the ship was last in Liverpool. Since the paint was applied, the vessel has made a passage from this port to the West Coast of Africa, and now, on being docked, for the purpose of having her bottom cleaned, it was found that the side on which Gisborne's paint had been used was not only free from all fouling by vegetable matter and marine animals, but there was no need for the use of the scraper or paint brush before the vessel again proceeds to sea. Not so on the other side, on which was used the paint that was to test the comparative qualities of Mr. Gisborne's. Barnacles covered the bottom of the ship on that side, at stem and stern, where the two paints joined, and it was remarkable to see the one side comparatively covered with marine animals and the other completely free. This is the only Liverpool ship upon which the efficacy of the Gisborne paint has been fairly tried and the result known, but she is not the only one on which it has been used. In addition to the satisfaction which the experiment on the Achilles gave, several London merchant vessels have been coated with the paint, and with equally satisfactory results. The best proof of the entire satisfaction given to the African Steamship Company's agents is that they have instructed the Liverpool agents of the Gisborne paint to have the entire bottom of the Macgregor Laird covered with it before she leaves the dock."

This is important evidence and goes to confirm the efficacy of the Gisborne paint, which is coming into use here quite rapidly. The iron ships Maggie Leslie and Niemen, bound to China, have been coated with it, and the Cunard steamer Corsica is ordered on the dock to receive it. Rear-Admiral Gregory has also ordered it on some gunboats. The Gisborne Paint Company's office is at No. 35 Wall-street, New-York.

Which was concurred in.

Resolved, That permission be and the same is hereby given to James B. Hunt to erect a stairway on the outside of building on the southeast corner of Thirty-fourth-street and Third-avenue, under the direction of the Street Commissioner.

Which was referred to the Committee on Streets.

Resolved, That the Street Commissioner be and he is hereby directed to place a gas-lamp on the northeast corner of Seventy-ninth-street and Second-avenue.

Which was concurred in.

Resolved, That permission be and the same is hereby given to John C. Ham to erect a sign-post on the corner of Fourth-street and Broadway, in Fourth-street, on a line with the buildings on Broadway, the permission hereby given to remain only during the pleasure of the Common Council.

Councilman Keenan moved that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Streets.

Which was lost by the following vote:

Affirmative—Councilmen Healy, Kinney, Brady, O'Callaghan, Joyce—5.

The resolution was then concurred in by the following vote:

Negative—Councilmen Healy, Robinson, Kinney—3.

(By Board of Aldermen, March seventh, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, referred to the Comptroller, with power.)
